Snyder, 2008-04-15 This book provides a fascinating and unique history of the Britons from the late Iron Age to the late Middle Ages It also discusses the revivals of interest in British culture and myth over the centuries from Renaissance antiquarians to modern day Druids A fascinating and unique history of the

Britons from the late Iron Age to the late Middle Ages Describes the life language and culture of the Britons before during and after Roman rule Examines the figures of King Arthur and Merlin and the evolution of a powerful national mythology Proposes a new theory on the Anglo Saxon settlement of Britain and the establishment of separate Brittonic kingdoms Discusses revivals of interest in British culture and myth from Renaissance antiquarians to modern day Druids English Heritage Book of the Peak District John Barnatt,1997 Beacons in the Landscape Ian Brown,2009-07-20 Of all Britain's great archaeological monuments the Iron Age hillforts have arguably had the most profound impact on the landscape if only because there are so many yet we know very little about them Were they recognised as being something special by those who created them or is the hillfort purely an archaeologists construct How were they constructed who lived in them and to what uses were they put This book which is richly illustrated with photography of sites throughout England and Wales addresses these and many other questions After discussing the difficult issue of definition and the great excavations on which our knowledge is based Ian Brown investigates in turn hillforts origins their architecture and the role they played in Iron Age society He also discusses the latest theories about their location social significance and chronology The book provides a valuable synthesis of the rich vein of research carried out in Britain on hillforts over the last thirty years Hillforts great variability poses many problems and this book should help guide both the specialist and non specialist alike though the complex literature Furthermore it has an important conservation objective Land use in the modern era has not been kind to these monuments with a significant number either disfigured or lost Public consciousness of their importance needs raising if their management is to be improved and their future assured Alternative Iron Ages Brais X. Currás,Inés Sastre,2019-09-09 Alternative Iron Ages examines Iron Age social formations that sit outside traditional paradigms developing methods for archaeological characterisation of alternative models of society In so doing it contributes to the debates concerning the construction and resistance of inequality taking place in archaeology anthropology and sociology In recent years Iron Age research on Western Europe has moved towards new forms of understanding social structures Yet these alternative social organisations continue to be considered as basic human social formations which frequently imply marginality and primitivism In this context the grand narrative of the European Iron Age continues to be defined by cultural foci which hide the great regional variety in an artificially homogenous area This book challenges the traditional classical evolutionist narratives by exploring concepts such as non triangular societies heterarchy and segmentarity across regional case studies to test and propose alternative social models for Iron Age social formations Constructing new social theory both archaeologically based and supported by sociological and anthropological theory the book is perfect for those looking to examine and understand life in the European Iron Age We are so grateful to the research project titled Paisajes rurales antiguos del Noroeste peninsular formas de dominacion romana y explotacion de recursos Ancient rural landscapes in Northwestern Iberia Roman dominion and resource exploitation HAR2015 64632 P MINECO FEDER directed from the

Instituto de Historia CSIC and also to the Fundação para a Ciência e a Tecnologia Foundation for Science and Technology postdoctoral project SFRH BPD 102407 2014 Archaeologists and the Dead Howard Williams, Melanie Giles, 2016-06-24

This volume addresses the relationship between archaeologists and the dead through the many dimensions of their relationships in the field through practical and legal issues in the lab through their analysis and interpretation and in their written visual and exhibitionary practice disseminated to a variety of academic and public audiences Written from a variety of perspectives its authors address the experience effect ethical considerations and cultural politics of working with mortuary archaeology Whilst some papers reflect institutional or organisational approaches others are more personal in their view creating exciting and frank insights into contemporary issues which have hitherto often remained unspoken amongst the discipline Reframing funerary archaeologists as death workers of a kind the contributors reflect on their own experience to provide both guidance and inspiration to future practitioners arguing strongly that we have a central role to play in engaging the public with themes of mortality and commemoration through the lens of the past Spurred by the recent debates in the UK papers from Scandinavia Austria Italy the US and the mid Atlantic frame these issues within a much wider international context which highlights the importance of cultural and historical context in which this work takes place
