Urban Mobilities in the Global South Tanu Priya Uteng,Karen Lucas,2017-11-27 The book considers urban mobilities and immobilities in the Global South through an exploration of the theoretical and methodological entry points that can be used to further the agenda of transport planning Transport system improvements can and do have complex and unequal impacts on different sectors of society Conventional approaches to analysing travel demand and transport system performance developed in the Global North are typically ill equipped to identify and understand the complexities and inequities in urban areas of the Global South Using case studies from urban Africa and Asia the book addresses the need to understand the lived world of mobilities and use this knowledge to address issues that are central to our urban existence in the 21st century Adventure Tourism

Steve Taylor,Peter Varley,Tony Johnston,2013-02-11 Adventure tourism is an increasingly widespread phenomenon appealing to an expanding proportion of the population who seek new destinations and new experiences This timely edited volume offers new theoretical perspectives of this emerging subset of Tourism it uses philosophical and cutting edge empirically grounded research to challenge existing thinking and develop the conceptual framework underpinning definitions of adventure interrogating the adventure tourism experience and further building upon recent advances in adventure education The book brings together adventure literature from range of disciplines and applies it to focused study of Adventure Tourism By doing so it significantly furthers understanding and moves forward this development of this area of Tourism This significant volume is written by leading academics in the area and will be valuable reading for all those interested in Adventure Tourism Indigenous knowledge systems and climate change management in Africa Ajayi, O.C. (ed),Mafongoya,

P.L. (ed),2017-11-15 Climate change presents a profound challenge to food security and sustainable development in Africa Its negative impacts are likely to be greatest in the African region which is already food insecure In the face of global climate change and its emerging challenges and unknowns it is essential that decision makers base policies on the best available knowledge In recent years the knowledge of local and indigenous people often referred to as indigenous knowledge IK has been increasingly recognised as an important source of climate knowledge and adaptation strategies

Governance for Pro-Poor Urban Development Franklin Obeng-Odoom, 2013-07-18 The world development institutions commonly present urban governance as an antidote to the so called urbanisation of poverty and parasitic urbanism in Africa Governance for Pro Poor Urban Development is a comprehensive and systematic analysis of the meaning nature and effects of urban governance in theory and in practice with a focus on Ghana a country widely regarded as an island of good governance in the sub region The book illustrates how diverse groups experience urban governance differently and contextualizes how this experience has worsened social differentiation in cities This book will be of great interest to students teachers and researchers in development studies and highly relevant to anyone with an interest in urban studies geography political economy sociology and African studies

Measures and Determinants of Urban Food Security: Evidence from Accra, Ghana Tuholske, Cascade, Andam, Kwaw S., Blekking, Jordan, Evans, Tom, Caylor, Kelly, 2018-11-22 The urban population in Africa south of the Sahara SSA is expected to expand rapidly from 376 million people in 2015 to more than 1.25 billion people by 2050 Measuring and ensuring food security among urban households will become an increasingly pertinent task for development researchers and practitioners In this paper we characterize food security among a sample of low and middle income residents of Accra Ghana using 2017 survey data We find that households tend to purchase food from traditional markets local stalls and kiosks and street hawkers and rarely from modern supermarkets We characterize food security using three established metrics the Household Food Insecurity Access Scale HFIAS the Household Food Insecurity Access Prevalence HFIAP and the Food Consumption Score FCS We then estimate the determinants of food security using general linear models The food security metrics are not strongly correlated For example according to HFIAP as many as 70 percent of households sampled are food insecure but only 2 percent fall below acceptable thresholds measured by FCS Model results show that household education assets and dwelling characteristics are significantly associated with food security according to HFIAS and HFIAP but not with FCS The poor correlation and weak model agreement between the dietary recall metric FCS and the experience based metrics HFIAS and HFIAP call for closer attention to measurement of urban food security Given Africa's urban future our findings highlight the need for an urban oriented comprehensive approach to the food security of urban households

The Oxford Handbook of Environmental Criminology Gerben Bruinsma, Shane D. Johnson, 2018 The study of how the environment local geography and physical locations influence crime has a long history that stretches across many research traditions These include the neighborhood effects approach developed in the 1920s the criminology of place and a newer approach that attends to the perception of crime in communities Aided by new technologies and improved data reporting in recent decades research in environmental criminology has developed rapidly within each of these approaches Yet research in the subfield remains fragmented and competing theories are rarely examined together The Oxford Handbook of Environmental Criminology takes a unique approach and synthesizes the contributions of existing methods to better integrate the subfield as a whole Gerben J N Bruinsma and Shane D Johnson have assembled a cast of top scholars to provide an in depth source for understanding how and why physical setting can influence the emergence of crime affect the environment and impact individual or group behavior The contributors address how changes in the environment global connectivity and technology provide more criminal opportunities and new ways of committing old crimes They also explore how crimes committed in countries with distinct cultural practices like China and West Africa might lead to different spatial patterns of crime This is a state of the art compendium on environmental criminology that reflects the diverse research and theory developed across the western world
