Autoimmuno-Anti-Tumour Immunity (AATI) - Understanding the Immune Responses against "Self" & "Altered-self"
Fang-Ping Huang, 2017-05-16 The brief description of tumours being wounds that do not heal by Dr Harold F Dworak nearly three decades ago N Engl J Med 1986 has provided not only a vivid illustration of neoplastic diseases in general but also in retrospect conceptually a plausible immunological definition of cancers Based on our current understanding in the field it could have even a multi dimensional meaning attached with This relates to several important issues which need to be addressed further i e in terms of a close link between chronic inflammation and tumourigenesis widely observed clinical and experimental evidence of immunity against tumours versus the highly immunosuppressive tumour microenvironment being associated and their underlying immunological mechanisms oncogenic basis as well as the true causal relationship in question Recent findings from studies into the pathogenesis of autoimmunity and more importantly the mechanisms which protect against it have offered some new insights for our understanding in this direction Chronic or persistent autoimmune like inflammatory conditions are evidently associated with tumor development The important question is about their true causal relationship Chronic or persistent inflammation has been shown to contribute directly to tumour development by triggering neoplastic transformation and production of inflammatory mediators which could promote cancer cell survival proliferation and invasion On the other hand tumours are mutated self tissue cells to which the host immune system is largely tolerized otherwise Although the mutations may give rise to the expression of tumour specific antigens TSA or tumour associated antigens TAA most of these TSAs TAAs are found to be poor immunogens The ongoing inflammatory conditions may therefore reflect a desperate attempt of the host immune system to mount anti tumour responses though ineffectively being a consequence of the continuous yet largely futile triggering by those poorly immunogenic TSAs TAAs Furthermore during autoimmune or overtly persistent immunological responses many regulatory mechanisms are triggered in the host in attempts to limit the ongoing harmful inflammatory reactions Such a negative feedback regulation is known to be crucial in preventing normal individuals from immune mediated diseases As a result of the negative feedback loop however an excessive production of anti inflammatory or immunosuppressive molecules followed by the exhaustion of the immune effector cells may instead lower the ability of the host immune system to mount specific anti tumor responses allowing the escape of tumour or mutated cells from immunosurveillance This may also help to explain why the most effective way to enhance host immunity against cancer is by targeting the negative arm of immune regulation In this Frontiers Research Topic we aim to gather current views from experts in these inherent overlapping fields of oncology autoimmunity and tumour immunology and to make them available to our potential readership who may be particularly interested in this cutting edge area By understanding how the immune system is normally regulated why dysregulation of which may cause the immunological oncological related diseases we also encourage further discussions as to how the so called self reactivity autoimmune responses can be alternatively switched on and redirected immunologically or molecularly for effective cancer treatment

Advances in Carbon Management Technologies Subhas K. Sikdar, Frank Princiotta, 2021-01-31 Volume 2 of Advances in Carbon Management Technologies has 21 chapters It presents the introductory chapter again for framing the challenges that confront the proposed solutions discussed in this volume Section 4 presents various ways biomass and biomass wastes can be manipulated to provide a low carbon footprint of the generation of power heat and co products and of recovery and reuse of biomass wastes for beneficial purposes Section 5 provides potential carbon management solutions in urban and manufacturing environments This section also provides state of the art of battery technologies for the transportation sector The chapters in section 6 deal with electricity and the grid and how decarbonization can be practiced in the electricity sector The overall topic of advances in carbon management is too broad to be covered in a book of this size It was not intended to cover every possible aspect that is relevant to the topic Attempts were made however to highlight the most important issues of decarbonization from technological viewpoints Over the years carbon intensity of products and processes has decreased but the proportion of energy derived from fossil fuels has been stubbornly stuck at about 80% This has occurred despite very rapid development of renewable fuels because at the same time the use of fossil fuels has also increased Thus the challenges are truly daunting It is hoped that the technology choices provided here will show the myriad ways that solutions will evolve While policy decisions are the driving forces for technology development the book was not designed to cover policy solutions International Pulp and Paper Directory ,1999 Music Trade Indicator ,1927 The Continuing Study of Newspaper Reading Advertising Research Foundation,1941 St. Louis Daily Market Reporter and Merchants Exchange Price Current ,1885 U.S. Manufacturers Directory Inc Staf American Business Directo,1988-08
