

The image is a collage of science-related items. In the bottom left, there is a thermometer with a red liquid column, partially submerged in a beaker of blue liquid. Inside the beaker, several pink circles with arrows represent particles in motion. The background is a vibrant, multi-colored gradient. Overlaid on this background are several white sheets of paper containing text and diagrams. The most prominent text at the top reads 'Topic B.1 Thermal Energy Transfer Quiz 2'. Below this, there are various worksheets with questions, diagrams of energy transfer (conduction, convection, radiation), and tables for recording data. One diagram shows a cross-section of a house with arrows indicating heat loss through the roof and walls. Another diagram shows a beaker of water with a thermometer and a heat source below it. The overall theme is thermal energy and heat transfer.
