

A dark, atmospheric photograph of a room, likely a bathroom. In the foreground, a white bathtub is partially visible, set into a dark, possibly stone or concrete, floor. In the background, there are two large, multi-paned windows. The room is dimly lit, with light coming from the windows, creating a moody and mysterious atmosphere. The overall color palette is dark, with highlights from the windows.

The Redemption of Things Samuel Frederick, 2022-01-15 Collecting is usually understood as an activity that bestows permanence unity and meaning on otherwise scattered and ephemeral objects In The Redemption of Things Samuel Frederick emphasizes that to collect things however always entails displacing immobilizing and potentially disfiguring them too He argues that the dispersal of objects seemingly antithetical to the collector's task is essential to the logic of gathering and preservation Through analyses of collecting as a dialectical process of preservation and loss The Redemption of Things illustrates this paradox by focusing on objects that challenge notions of collectability ephemera detritus and trivialities such as moss junk paper scraps dust scent and the transitory moment In meticulous close readings of works by Gotthelf Stifter Keller Rilke Glauser and Frisch and by examining an experimental film by Oskar Fischinger Frederick reveals how the difficulties posed by these fleeting fragile and forsaken objects help to reconceptualize collecting as a poetic activity that makes the world of scattered things uniquely palpable and knowable

Latin American Detectives against Power Fabricio Tocco, 2022-04-06 This book examines how Latin American detective stories portray individualism and the state through the figures of the private eye and the police Fabricio Tocco argues that these portrayals constitute a far more radical critique than the one developed by the Anglo American canon culminating in a transnational poetics of failure rooted in dissatisfaction with the neoliberal state

The Subjectified and Subjectifying Mind Min Han, Carla Cunha, 2017-01-01 Putting subjectivity back in psychology and in social sciences is the aim of this volume Subjectivity is a core psychological dimension but frequently forgotten Without a full understanding of the uniqueness of each human life our understanding of psychological life fails to reach its aim This book explores precisely the field of subjectivity offering the reader different and innovative views on this challenging theme This book is an asset for all those interested in understanding how the mind operates as a subjectifying process and how this subjectifying mind is simultaneously the product and the content of feeling an unique and unrepeatable subjective life By bringing together renowned and emergent experts in the field it provides a fresh new look on the human mind The reader will find thought provoking and challenging contributions of 26 different scholars from 10 countries It covers a wide range of perspectives and approaches such as dialogical perspectives cultural psychology approaches developmental psychology feminist perspectives semiotics and anthropology This volume will be very much recommended for all sorts of scholars and students in social and human sciences interested in the human mind and in subjectivity It will be adequate for different levels of teaching from undergraduate to master courses It also meant to be understood for all readers interested in the topic
