Mallicoat,Jason M. Williams,2022-08-22 Survivor Criminology A Radical Act of Hope is a trauma informed approach to the study of crime and justice that stems from the lived experiences of crime survivors The chapters within this volume explore our authors who have each had close personal encounters with violence and death as well as institutionalized oppressions based on racism heterosexism sexism and poverty As scholars professors practitioners and students in the field these lived experiences with crime and criminal justice have shaped their research teaching and advocacy work Their voices represent experiences that are intersectional mult igenerational global trauma informed and resiliency focused They are deliberately and decidedly anti racist and their experiences acknowledge the harm that has resulted from institutionalized and structural trauma Most importantly their stories are grounded in their lived experiences This volume offers survivor criminology as a radical act of hope Our hope comes from the belief that a trauma centered approach to crime justice and healing provides the opportunity for criminology to expand its theoretical and methodological roots We see this work as transformative for the discipline for students scholars members of the community and policy makers Official Gazette Philippines,2006 District of Columbia Appropriations for Fiscal Year 2001 United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on District of Columbia,2001 New Lenses on Intellectual Disabilities Jennifer Clegg,2020-05-21 This book gathers together recent international research in intellectual disability ID examining the diverse modes of existence that characterise living with intellectual disabilities in the 21st century Ranging from people with no speech and little mobility who need 24 hour care to people who marry or hold down jobs this book moves beyond the typical person with ID imagined by public policy healthy with mild ID and a supportive family and living in a welcoming community The book is divided into three sections The first A richer picture of people and relationships expands our understanding of different people and lifestyles associated with ID The second section Where current policies fall short finds that Supported Living provides just as mediocre a form of care as group homes and concludes that services for people with challenging behaviour are unrelated to need The contributors research identifies no effective employment support strategies as well as technological and legal changes that prevent organisations from employing people with ID With nearly a quarter of this population in poor health the contributors reflect on whether social model approaches should be allowed to trump medical considerations The third section New thinking about well being reveals that being old poor and living alone increases health risk and that medication administration is significantly more complex for people with ID Moving beyond 20th century certainties surrounding intellectual disability this book will be of interest to those studying contemporary issues facing those living with ID as well as those studying public health policy more widely The chapters in this book were originally published in issues of the Journal of Intellectual Developmental Disability
