Building a Website: Understanding the Basics of HTML and CSS

1. Introduction to HTML and CSS

Web design involves creating a visual representation of a website using HTML and CSS. HTML (Hypertext Markup Language) is the backbone of the web, while CSS (Cascading Style Sheets) is used to style the content.

This document is designed to help you understand the basics of HTML and CSS. It covers the following topics:

- What is HTML and CSS?
- How to create a simple web page using HTML and CSS.
- How to use the browser's developer tools to inspect the code.
- How to use the browser's console to debug errors.
- How to use the browser's network tab to inspect the network requests.

The document is divided into two main sections: HTML and CSS. Each section contains a list of topics to be covered, followed by a detailed explanation of each topic.

2. HTML Basics

HTML is the language used to create web pages. It consists of a series of elements that are used to structure the content of a page. The most common elements are the `<h1>`, `<h2>`, `<h3>`, ``, ``, ``, and `<table>` tags. Each tag has a set of attributes that can be used to control the appearance of the element.

For example, the `<h1>` tag is used to create the main heading of a page. It has a `id` attribute that can be used to identify the heading. The `` tag is used to create a link to another page. It has a `href` attribute that specifies the URL of the link.

The following table shows the most common HTML tags and their attributes:

3. CSS Basics

CSS is the language used to style web pages. It consists of a series of rules that are used to control the appearance of the elements. The most common rules are the `color`, `background-color`, `font-size`, `font-weight`, `text-align`, `text-decoration`, `border`, `margin`, and `padding` rules. Each rule has a set of values that can be used to control the appearance of the element.

For example, the `color` rule is used to set the color of the text. It has a `color` property that can be set to a color name or a hexadecimal color code. The `background-color` rule is used to set the background color of an element. It has a `background-color` property that can be set to a color name or a hexadecimal color code.
