School Management and Effectiveness in Developing Countries Clive Harber, Lynn Davies, 2006-02-08 This book is quite different from existing Western books on school effectiveness It describes and analyses the way in which schools operate in developing countries and also tries to explain why they are as they are Examining them at three levels the macro the meso and the micro the authors use a theoretical framework that they have termed post bureaucracy The book has four interlinked sections First the authors examine the existing economic and theoretical contexts around school effectiveness including an analysis of the causes of economic crisis and its impact on school management In the second section the analysis of schools as bureaucratic facades is proposed The reality of school life from which any theory of school effectiveness must derive is illustrated by an ethnographic account of the job of the headteacher in developing countries The third section explores different ways to understand this reality operating on three levels global relationships national and community cultures and individual agency In the final section Haber and Davies draw these levels and realities together They argue for the democratization of schools as the only way forward for effective education for development

Education, Equity and Transformation Crain Soudien, Peter Kallaway, 1999-12-31 The papers for this special issue were selected from a pool of nearly 700 presentations which were made at the 10th Congress of the World Council of Comparative Education Societies WCCES which was held in Cape Town South Africa from 12 to 17 July 1998 The congress was hosted by the Southern African Comparative and History of Education Society SACHES and held on the campuses of the University of the Western Cape and the University of Cape Town The papers were selected by the convenors of the conference s standing commissions which provided a significant focus for the conference proceedings These commissions were on the following themes Teachers and teacher education Curriculum Higher education Lifelong learning Language literacy and basic education Gender and education Policy Theory and theory shifts Basic education in Africa Peace and Justice Dependency European Education Policy Research in Africa Culture Indigenous Knowledge and Learning The papers presented as the discussion below makes clear ranged widely in subject matter and theoretical perspective and addressed issues of concern both to individual countries and to regions of the world While some of the papers use comparison as an approach it remains a matter of concern that the comparative perspective is so little in evidence It is hoped that the comparative research approach will be more in evidence in the future Challenges for Anthropology in the 'African Renaissance' Association for Anthropology in Southern Africa.
