In Distant Fields:

In Distant Fields Charlotte Bingham, 2007 Her wonderful new story sure to be another bestseller is about love and heartbreak but most importantly the remarkable nature of female friendship Christmas 1913 Kitty and Lady Partita are best friends despite vastly different backgrounds Partita has invited her friend Kitty to stay at her ancestral home Borders Castle The grandeur of Partita's family seat is in stark contrast to Kitty's home in London where she and her mother Violet struggle to maintain appearances despite Kitty's father gambling away the family money Kitty is introduced to the aristocracy a world she finds fascinatingly decorative and theatrical She is enthralled by it and desperately wants to be part of this way of life that is so far removed from the genteel poverty in which she and her mother are forced to exist But war breaks out not only irrevocably changing society but also the lives of these two beautiful young women The headstrong Partita and down to earth Kitty become nurses caring selflessly for men who have been horrifically injured in the trenches In Distant Fields is about the mothers and daughters sisters and wives who are left holding things together on the home front and caring for their men But more importantly it's about the nature of female friendship From the Trade Paperback edition In Distant Fields Tim Cathcart, 2003 Claude McKay Kotti Sree Ramesh, Kandula Nirupa Rani, 2006-08-02 The gifted and rebellious writer Claude McKay grew up in the British West Indies and then moved to the United States As he traveled from Jamaica to Harlem and then to Europe and Africa he embraced various causes and political ideologies that made their way into his writings Brought up as a colonial in the British West Indies he found racial oppression as an immigrant in the United States His struggle for self definition and self determination was manifest in his writings and laid the foundation for the Harlem Renaissance and negritude movements African American scholarship in the United States tends to focus on McKay's American productions such as his poetry and novels like Home to Harlem while critics in the Caribbean focus on his works there novels like Banana Bottom and dialect poetry This study has undertaken to explore comprehensively the life and works of Claude McKay framed within colonial and cross cultural experiences While dealing with pertinent issues like identity race exile ethnicity and sexuality the work examines all the facets of this influential 20th century author a man trying to solve the problem of his own identity in a world determined to marginalize him Cassava Felix I. Nweke, 1996 Introduction The smallholder socioeconomic environment Cassava production with purchased inputs Cassava production response to use of purchased inputs Production for sale Household cash income generation Impact of high yielding varieties on cassava cash income Summary of observations and conclusion Fields and Fencelines Mark E. Hillenbrand, 2019-02-22 The family farm was a place to learn values work ethic and develop character For Author Mark Hillenbrand it was a place where happy childhood memories were created and discipline and routine were important Deeply rooted in the hard work of planting and harvesting raising cattle and chickens and maintaining the property and machinery is a sense of responsibility and belonging His father instilled in him with words but mostly by example the importance of cultivating a deep respect and sense of stewardship of the land and its creatures From Mark s first time driving a tractor at age ten to tree planting as a young man to assisting his father during his last harvest the farm provided life lessons that bound the family together and extend to the next generation At once nostalgic and realistic Fields and Fencelines is a collection of stories that appeals to a simpler holistic approach to life and reveals the insight and wisdom gained from growing up on a family farm

Fields of the Lord Lorraine V. Aragon,2000-06-01 Religious and ethnic violence between Indonesia s Muslims and Christians escalated dramatically just before and after President Suharto resigned in 1998 In this first major ethnographic study of Christianization in Indonesia Aragon delineates colonial and postcolonial circumstances contributing to the dynamics of these contemporary conflicts Aragon s ethnography of Indonesian Christian minorities in Sulawesi combines a political economy of colonial missionization with a microanalysis of shifting religious ideology and practice Fields of the Lord challenges much comparative religion scholarship by contending that religions like contemporary cultural groups be located in their spheres of interaction rather than as the abstracted cognitive and behavioral systems conceived by many adherents modernist states and Western scholars Aragon s portrayal of near tribal populations who characterize themselves as fanatic Christians asks the reader to rethink issues of Indonesian nationalism and modern development as they converged in President Suharto s late New Order state Through its careful documentation of colonial missionary tactics unexpected postcolonial upheavals and contemporary Christian narratives Fields of the Lord analyzes the historical and institutional links between state rule and individuals religious choices Beyond these contributions this ethnography includes captivating stories of Salvation Army angels of the forest and nationally marginal but locally autonomous dry rice and coffee farmers These Salvation Army soldiers make Protestantism work on their own ecological moral and political turf maintaining their communities and ongoing religious concerns in the difficult terrain of the Central Sulawesi highlands

Deep Fields S. Cristiani,Alvio Renzini,R. Williams,2001-12 This book is a synopsis of modern deep field astronomy based on the powerful telescopes and instruments developed in recent years It is organized along topical themes such as the extragalactic background radiation at different wavelengths the evolution of galaxies the history of star formation the nature of absorbers the reionization of the intergalactic medium the validity of photometric redshifts gravitational lensing and clustering of galaxies Stellar and substellar objects were not neglected however and one session was devoted to nearby bodies such as trans Neptunian solar system objects brown dwarfs and stars with special characteristics

Indispensable for the student or researcher studying women's history this book draws upon a wide array of cultural settings and time periods in which women displayed agency by carrying out their daily economic familial artistic and religious obligations Since record keeping began history has been written by a relatively few elite men Insights into women's history are left to be gleaned by scholars who undertake careful readings of ancient literature examine archaeological artifacts and study popular culture such as folktales musical traditions and art For some historical periods and geographic regions this is the only way to develop some sense of what daily life might have been like for women in a particular time and place This reference explores the daily life of women across civilizations The work is organized in sections on different civilizations from around the world arranged chronologically Within each society the encyclopedia highlights the roles of women within five broad thematic categories the arts economics and work family and community life recreation and social customs and religious life Included are numerous sidebars containing additional information document excerpts images and suggestions for further reading Gender Surprises in Food Production, Processing, and Marketing with Emphasis on Cassava in Africa Felix I. Nweke, 1999 Agricultural Change and Peasant Choice in a Thai Village Michael Moerman, 2023-09-01 This study examines the agricultural practices and decision making processes of a small Tai Lue village in northern Thailand focusing on the period from 1959 to 1961 with a follow up visit in 1965 Conducted through anthropological fieldwork the research involved living among villagers learning their language and participating in their daily life The primary aim was to understand how villagers in Ban Ping made farming decisions with a specific interest in their adoption of new agricultural technologies such as tractors which had significantly changed rice cultivation by 1960 By concentrating on the local culturally informed perspectives of the villagers the study seeks to provide insights into the factors that influence farming choices within the community The analysis explores the complexities of farming decisions through two perspectives rational decision making processes related to technology and broader social factors tied to the village's extracommunity relations The methodological approach involves a detailed systematic examination of how decisions were made in 1960 with subsequent insights from the 1965 field trip reserved for the study's final chapter to maintain the integrity of the initial analysis By doing so the research attempts to reveal the processes through which farmers select among different agricultural practices emphasizing the importance of understanding localized decision making in efforts to improve agricultural development and economic policies This work is intended not only for ethnographers studying agricultural practices but also for those involved in economic development offering a grounded perspective on the technological and social dynamics of rural communities The study reflects the author's engagement with development work in Thailand drawing on experiences with various international and Thai organizations. The research benefits from the support of local Thai officials, community members, and academic institutions whose cooperation made it possible to document the nuanced interactions between tradition, technology, and economic change in Ban Ping. This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program, which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice, reach, and impact. Cassava Production Prospects in Africa Felix I. Nweke, 1996 Introduction Cassava production circumstances Prospects for cassava land area expansion Prospects of increase in yield Summary of observations From London Far Michael Innes, 2001 As Meredith, an academic, stands in a Bloomsbury tobacconist's waiting for his two ounces of tobacco, he murmurs a verse of London: A Poem and is astounded when a trap door opens into the London Catacombs, bringing him face to face with the Hortus Venus by Titian. From then on, he is trapped in a maze of the illicit art trade in the company of the redoubtable Jane Halliwell.

Annual Report of the Adjutant-general, of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, with Reports from the Quartermaster-general, Surgeon-general, and Master of Ordnance, for the Year Ending December 31, 1862 William Schouler, 1863 Minutes of North Carolina Yearly Meeting of Friends, 1847 Labor and Rainfed Agriculture in West Asia and North Africa Dennis Tully, 2012-12-06

The basic objective of agricultural research at ICARDA is to enhance producer and consumer welfare through increasing the productivity, stability, and profitability of agriculture. Improved practices must be technically, economically, and socially suitable to farmer conditions. The rainfed areas of West Asia and North Africa have highly variable environmental conditions as well as complex social and economic structures. In recent years, the region has been experiencing major changes in the relative availabilities and costs of the classical factors of production: land, labor, and capital. These changes have important implications for the design of new agricultural technology. On the one hand, the availability of labor may be an important factor determining the acceptability of new technology. On the other, it is important to consider the impact that technology can have on rural employment. To develop a better awareness of these issues and their relevance to technology development, ICARDA initiated a project on Agricultural Labor and Technological Change. The first stage of the project is published here; it is a review of available literature on selected issues of regional importance combined with more detailed analyses of the situations of eight countries with important rainfed agricultural sectors. ICARDA greatly appreciates the financial assistance of the Ford Foundation, which allowed us to support the execution of the study and publication of its findings. We also appreciate the great efforts of the authors in the face of often limited data and facilities.

Have the Faith of Jesus TEACH Services, Inc., 2014-10-06 Faith: Our whole Christian experience hinges on this one word. In writing to the church of Ephesus, Paul encouraged them that by grace we are saved through faith. Yet many Christians struggle with having faith or believing.

the promises of God Have the Faith of Jesus examines the Savior's faith in all aspects of His life from offering Himself as a perfect sacrifice when Adam and Eve chose to disobey to overcoming the temptations that Satan hurled at Him throughout His life By faith Jesus lived a life of complete submission to His heavenly Father preaching to the people He was directed to healing those whom the Father brought to Him discipling the men God gave Him and eventually submitting Himself to die on the cross for the sins of the world As followers of the one true King may we learn all we can of our Master and emulate His perfect faith so that we may stand firm in the coming trials and be ready for His soon return Many authors write and many ministers preach about faith With a balanced grasp of Scripture and Spirit of Prophecy Thiele gives confidence to the reader in that when one recognizes how Jesus exercises faith we can exercise faith in the same way Hope is increased with the assurance that we have the faith of Jesus when we imitate Him John Witcombe Pastor Oregon Conference of Seventh day Adventists
