Incident Decision Tree:

The Incident Decision Tree, 2005 The National Patient Safety Agency has developed the Incident Decision Tree to help National Health Service NHS managers in the United Kingdom determine a fair and consistent course of action toward staff involved in patient safety incidents Research shows that systems failures are the root cause of the majority of safety incidents Despite this when an adverse incident occurs the most common response is to suspend the clinician s involved pending investigation in the belief that this serves the interests of patient safety The Incident Decision Tree supports the aim of creating an open culture where employees feel able to report patient safety incidents without undue fear of the consequences The tool comprises an algorithm with accompanying guidelines and poses a series of structured questions to help managers decide whether suspension is essential or whether alternatives might be feasible The approach does not seek to diminish health care professionals individual accountability but encourages key decisionmakers to consider systems and organizational issues in the management of error Initial findings show the Incident Decision Tree to be robust and adaptable for use in a range of health care environments and across all professional groups It is hoped that applying the tool throughout the NHS will encourage open reporting of actual and prevented patient safety incidents and promote a uniformly fair and consistent approach toward the staff involved Incident decision tree National Patient Safety Agency,2004

Safety and Ethics in Healthcare: A Guide to Getting it Right Bill Runciman, Alan Merry, Merrilyn Walton, 2017-05-15 As more and more people survive into old age the burden of caring for them becomes greater and greater Although it is now possible to alleviate many of the afflictions that beset mankind no society can afford to pay for all the healthcare that is now available or technically possible People working in healthcare increasingly have to do more with less Rationing takes many forms mostly covert and the less privileged in most societies end up struggling to get their proper share of the available healthcare resources All too often those in the front line have to deal with the consequences of this rationing by default healthcare professionals find themselves rushed off their feet simply doing the basic tasks and completing all the paperwork placing frail sick people in ever lengthening queues sometimes asking them to wait for hours in the middle of the night under uncomfortable and even unsafe conditions and worst of all working under conditions they would rather avoid in which the safety margin for those they are caring for has been greatly diminished We are all aware that under these conditions the chance of making a mistake which can seriously harm or even lead to the death of a patient is greatly increased But what can be done about this How can you be sure that you are doing the right thing when faced with having to practise an uncertain science on vulnerable patients in a complex system under ever changing conditions At what point could you cross the invisible line from reasonable to irresponsible or unethical behaviour by tolerating conditions or tacitly accepting practices which may be regarded as unacceptable even though you may have little immediate control over them This book is a guide to getting it right for healthcare professionals It is about doing the right thing in the right way at the right time for the right people These are the dimensions of quality in healthcare and although some are in conflict equitable access and efficiency for example adherence to ethical practice and professional behaviour will help lead healthcare practitioners through the minefield of responsibilities and priorities Real life situations are integral to the book with over 500 clinical examples referred to within the text
