The Effect of Military Experience on Civilian and Military Healthcare Facility CEO Leadership Development, Behaviors, and Outcomes Lawrence M. Johnson, 2001-04-23 This study examined whether the leadership experiences and leadership behaviors of United States healthcare facility Chief Executive Officers are affected by military or civilian experience. The study also investigated whether differences in leadership outcomes as perceived by key subordinates were affected by the CEO's leadership development experiences or leadership behaviors. The goal of this study was to investigate how occupationally similar yet experientially diverse military and civilian hospital CEOs differ in significant leadership experiences, behaviors, and three performance outcomes: namely, perceived effectiveness, follower satisfaction with the leader, and willingness of subordinates to put forth extra effort. Responses from a national sample of civilian and military healthcare facility CEOs affiliated with the American College of Healthcare Executives were used to address the research questions. A total of 117 healthcare facility CEOs and 190 key subordinates completed surveys designed to evaluate leadership development experiences and subordinates' perceptions of leader behaviors and outcomes. Analysis of Variance was chosen as the method for data analysis to describe quantitatively the relationship between CEO military experience and leadership development experiences, leadership styles, and leadership outcomes. Results indicated that the CEO's adult leadership development activities differed by military experience. The facility CEOs with prior military experience had unique leadership promoting and inhibiting factors. However, the prediction was not supported that the military CEOs would exhibit stronger leadership behaviors. Again, significant differences were not found between facility CEO groups in mean scores for leadership outcomes of extra effort, satisfaction, and perceived effectiveness of the leader. The study findings added to the healthcare leadership knowledge base concerning improvement of the organizational outcomes of United States healthcare facilities. In addition, the results of this study have potential for linkage with assessments of ongoing military and civilian healthcare leader development initiatives.

Essential Readings in International and Comparative Adult Education Jost Reischmann, 2021-06-01. Often in international comparative studies it is difficult to refer to older basic texts because they are hidden in old publications difficult to locate. This book makes a selection of such old but essential texts available and wants to document the long history of the international comparative perspective. Standing on the shoulder of giants allows not only a grounded look back but hopefully also a reliable and experience-based look in the future. The editor of this book, Jost Reischmann, Prof. em. Bamberg University, Germany, has a long history in international and comparative adult education. He presented papers on conferences around the world from San Diego, USA to Seoul, Korea. When the International Society for Comparative Adult Education (ISCAE) was founded in 1992, he became the first president and developed this society over many years. We hope this new book will help old timers and newcomers to contribute to the enriching world of international comparative adult education.
