

Persuasion Map Involving Kids in Online Education

Goal or Thesis:

Increase learning opportunities for teachers about ways to use digital tools to engage student in the teaching and learning process.

Main Reason:

#1. Student who are engaged learn better.

Facts or Examples:

Many kids are not engaged and forget what they are supposed to be learning in the class.

Humans like engagement, because it involves intrinsic as well as instrumental motivation in many cases.

We are in school so students learn and walk away changed. If we get students truly engaged, we all win.

#2. Digital tools get the attention of the students and can be hands-on, therefore more interactive.

Students are growing up in a media-centric society.

Students are naturally using tools like IM, game systems, and all cell phones to interact and communicate.

If teachers can get and keep the attention of the students with digital tools, that can be a good thing.

#3. Student need to learn more about using technology tools to communicate as well as obtain information.

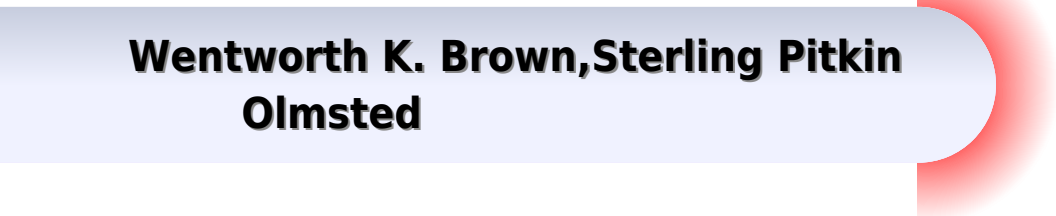

We don't live in industrial age anymore, when information and skill are limited and definable.

Using digital resources can help teachers bring real-world content and problems into the classroom.

Technology can be used to blend learning with different methodologies, and extend learning into the home.
