

Foreign Policy White Paper 2017

Submission by Ian Dudgeon

Introduction

This submission addresses the issues of the primary importance to us of the Asia-Pacific region, our interests and values, who we are and our image, the need for an independent foreign policy, the US alliance, regional engagement, our multilateral and international legal commitments, and aid and development assistance. It puts the views of the author, an active practitioner in international affairs.

The role of foreign policy

The fundamental role of Australia's foreign policy is to protect and promote Australia's national interests within the global community of which we are part.

Our region

While recognising we are part of a global community, the Asia-Pacific region is the area of primary importance to us for political, economic and national security reasons.

Geographically, this region reaches from South Asia through to North America. It includes India, China, Japan, South Korea, Russia, the US and Canada. It also includes Indonesia and the other ASEANs, as well as New Zealand and those Pacific Island states in the South West Pacific. Also included are critical sea lanes for international trade, especially the Malacca Strait and South China Sea.

This region is home to more than half the world's population, it is the new engine room of the global economy, and the region encompassing most of our two-way trade and investment. Also, more than anywhere else, any major event and most other events that occur in this region, inevitably, will affect at least some, potentially all, of Australia's national interests, directly or indirectly.

The Indo-Pacific region is also important to Australia, but in relative terms, less so than the Asia-Pacific. This region overlaps with South, East and S.E. Asia and extends vital two-way sea lanes westward to include oil supply routes from the Middle East and sea trade access to and from Europe. These western reaches are also where most ADF overseas operational deployments have occurred during the past decade and a half (e.g. Afghanistan, Iraq) in support of UN-mandated or other alliance commitments. But the region's eastern boundary stops mid-Pacific, and most significantly, excludes North America.

James G. McGann, 2018-07-09 This book examines changing international dynamics through the lens of some of the leading think tanks from the emerging powers in the world Through twelve case studies the authors explore how security and international affairs think tanks in emerging powers collaborate with their policy makers to meet current and anticipate future foreign policy and security challenges Overall the book illustrates and analyzes how think tanks in a variety of political and economic contexts are able to contribute to their respective policy making processes Included in the discussions are the problems or successes that each respective nation's think tanks face where they feel the emerging nation will be positioned and where they are failing to meet the policy challenges they face The book provides a comprehensive look at successful foreign policy formulation to serve as examples for other think tanks in similar political and economic conditions Swiss Foreign Policy Magdalena Bernath, Laurent Goetschel, Daniel Schwarz, 2004-11-10 The book is essential reading to all those interested in foreign policy analysis the relationship between democracy and international relations the significance of being a small state in contemporary Europe and the specificities of the Swiss Handbook of Regional Conflict Resolution Initiatives in the Global South Jeronimo Delgado-Caicedo, 2022-07-28 During the first half of the twentieth century the international system was largely dominated by the USA and the colonial powers of western Europe After the two world wars the political and economic dominance of these states guaranteed them and their allies an almost complete control of world politics However as it is the norm in the international system power structures are not immutable After the end of the Cold War rapid changes to the existing international hierarchies took place as new countries from the so called developing world began to emerge as crucial actors capable of questioning and altering the power dynamics of the world It is therefore unthinkable to ignore emerging countries such as Russia the People's Republic of China India Brazil or South Africa in the decision making process in today's world order In addition there is a group of smaller yet increasingly important countries that while acknowledging their inability radically to change the rules of the international system are still eager to shift power relations and enhance their influence in the world Argentina Colombia Egypt Indonesia Iran South Korea Mexico Nigeria Pakistan Saudi Arabia Turkey and Vietnam are generally recognised as part of this grouping of emerging powers from the Global South While there is a consensus amongst academics that emerging powers from the Global South must have a stabilising role within their own regions previous analyses have focused primarily on the impact that emerging powers have had in their own regions conflict resolution initiatives This volume instead aims to go beyond these analyses and provide new insights regarding the effect that this stabilising role has on the continental and global positioning of emerging powers In other words this book explores the relation between a country's involvement in conflict resolution initiatives and its positioning in the international system The volume will contribute to this approach using the perspective of academics and practitioners from countries of the Global South particularly from states that have strengthened or sometimes weakened their position in the international hierarchy of power through a leading role in regional conflict resolution initiatives

Think Tanks James G. McGann, 2019-03-26 The growth of think tanks with uniquely Asian characteristics Policy research institutes better known as think tanks are long established and well known in Western countries but have developed only in recent years in much of the rest of the world Globalization is partly responsible for the new growth in think tanks since few issues are totally domestic and governments and citizens increasingly understand the need for well informed policy advice Think tanks have become especially important in many Asian nations over the past decade coinciding with their rise to new prominence in international affairs Asia's major players the People's Republic of China India Japan the Republic of Korea Singapore and more recently countries in Central Asia like Kazakhstan now have major think tanks These institutions have become the go to organizations for proposals and policy advice on key economic security social and environmental issues This book by a noted expert in the field traces the growing influence of these policy actors in Asia places the trend in historical context and explores how the region's countries have fostered the growth of think tanks with uniquely Asian characteristics Basic Courses Foreign Policy International Studies Association, 1970 Spine title Foreign policy

Regional Powers and Contested Leadership Hannes Ebert, Daniel Flemer, 2018-03-19 When do rising powers fail to establish legitimate regional leadership and instead face contestation by their regional challengers This book investigates how and why the BRICS Brazil Russia India China and South Africa project leadership in South America post Soviet Eurasia South and Southeast Asia and sub Saharan Africa respectively and in what ways their main regional challengers respond Based on a systematic conceptualization of the types and drivers of leadership and contestation the authors assess the impact of the rise of regional powers on weaker states security sovereignty and status as well as the consequences of contestation for regional economic development and stability and the regional powers bid for greater voice in global governance By illuminating the sources and effects of power politics in five regions that are increasingly pivotal for the emerging world order the volume offers a global comparative analysis of contemporary regional contested leadership that will interest scholars and students of international affairs foreign policy and area studies Military Review, 2006
