Forgeries and Historical Writing in England, France, and Flanders, 900-1200 Robert F. Berkhofer III, Robert F. Berkhofer, 2022 A close analysis of forgeries and historical writings at Saint Peter's Ghent Saint Denis near Paris and Christ Church Canterbury offering valuable access to why medieval people often rewrote their pasts What modern scholars call forgeries be they texts seals coins or relics flourished in the central Middle Ages Although lying was considered wrong throughout the period such condemnation apparently did not extend to forgeries Rewriting documents was especially common among monks who exploited their mastery of writing to reshape their records Monastic scribes frequently rewrote their archives using charters letters and narratives to create new usable pasts for claiming lands and privileges in their present or future Such imagined histories could also be deployed to reform their community or reshape its relationship with lay and ecclesiastical authorities Although these creative rewritings were forgeries they still can be valuable evidence of medieval mentalities While forgeries cannot easily be used to reconstruct what did happen forgeries embedded in historical narratives show what their composers believed should have happened and thus they offer valuable access to why medieval people rewrote their pasts This book offers close analysis of three monastic archives over the long eleventh century Saint Peter's Ghent Saint Denis near Paris and Christ Church Canterbury These foci provide the basis for contextualizing key shifts in documentary culture in the twelfth century across Europe Overall the book argues that connections between monastic forgeries and historical writing in the tenth through twelfth centuries reveal attempts to reshape reality Both sought to rewrite the past and thereby promote monks interests in their present or future
