The Right to a Human Minimum Stephen Onyango Ouma, 2025-08-02 This book provides a profound exploration of the concept of a human minimum as articulated by the renowned African philosopher H Odera Oruka It delves into the pressing issue of global inequality and examines how basic rights such as access to food shelter education and healthcare are fundamental to human dignity and should be accessible to all regardless of socioeconomic status In a world where the gap between the rich and the poor continues to widen Oruka's philosophical framework is a blueprint for addressing this divide Through a critical analysis of Oruka's work this book presents the philosophy of a human minimum and describes why basic rights are essential to ensuring justice equity and sustainable development It contextualizes these ideas within contemporary challenges including poverty unemployment and the global disparities exacerbated by economic systems that favor wealth accumulation by the few This exploration pushes beyond abstract theory offering practical insights into policy solutions and societal structures that can uphold the dignity of every individual It argues that achieving this requires not only ethical responsibility but systemic change in political and economic structures By rethinking development governance and social justice through the lens of Oruka's philosophy the book presents a compelling case for policies and actions that guarantee the human minimum for all This book is of interest to scholars of philosophy social justice advocates policymakers and anyone committed to addressing global inequality It provides a roadmap for how societies can move toward a more equitable future

Forming a Global Community Joseph de Rivera, 2022-10-18 To address global problems such as pandemics warming economic inequality mass migration and widespread terrorism Joseph de Rivera argues that we must form a global community A community of eight billion humans is difficult to conceive However it can be imagined and created if we transform our understanding of who humans are and what community entails We can understand who persons are how they are motivated and how a community can be conceived in a way that offers an alternative to individualism and collectivism The mutualism that is proposed provides a moral compass for navigating the challenges that confront us and encourages specific governing structures political economies and rituals that will further the formation of a global community Based on the philosophical analysis of John Macmurray the author's argument relies on an extensive review of the current literature on self personhood emotional motivation social identity forms of community and religious and secular rituals Interdisciplinary in nature it aims to direct philosophy and the social sciences to the challenges of globalism and the creation of a global community

Self-determination in Health Care Leroy C. Edozien,2016-03-03 It is generally accepted in legal and bioethical discourse that the patient has a right to self determination In practice though this is often not the case Paternalism is waning and it is increasingly recognised that there are values other than medical factors which determine the choices that patients make Unfortunately these developments have not resulted in huge advances for patient self determination which is largely because the consent model has fundamental flaws that constrain its effectiveness This book sets out to offer an alternative model to consent In the property model proposed here the patient s bodily integrity is protected from unauthorised invasion and their legitimate expectation to be provided with the relevant information to make an informed decision is taken to be a proprietary right It is argued that the property model potentially overcomes the limitations of the consent model including the obstacle caused by the requirement to prove causation in consent cases The author proposes that this model could in the future provide an alternative or complementary approach for the courts to consider when dealing with cases relating to self determination in health care UN Peacekeeping Operations and the Protection of Civilians

Conor Foley,2017-09-07 This book is based on the author s experience of working for more than two decades in over thirty conflict and post conflict zones It is written for those involved in UN peacekeeping and the protection of civilians It is intended to be accessible to non lawyers working in the field who may need to know the applicable legal standards relating to issues such as the use of force and arrest and detention powers on the one hand and the delivery of life saving assistance according to humanitarian principles on the other It will also be of interest to scholars and students of peacekeeping international law and international relations on the practical dilemmas facing those trying to operationalise the various conceptions of protection during humanitarian crises in recent years Transnational Environmental Crime Rob

White,2017-07-05 The essays selected for this volume illustrate the growing interest in and importance of crime that is both environmental and transnational in nature The topics covered range from pollution and waste to biodiversity and wildlife crimes and from the violation of human rights associated with the exploitation of natural resources through to the criminogenic implications of climate change The collection provides insight into the nature and dynamics of this type of crime and examines in detail who is harmed and what can be done about it Differential victimisation and contemporary developments in environmental law enforcement are also considered Collectively these essays lay the foundations for a criminology that is forward looking global in its purview and that deals with the key environmental issues of the present age
