French language music became a highly visible example of France's quest to maintain her cultural exceptionalism in the face of the perceived globalising hegemony of English and US business and cultural imperialism. Laws were passed instituting minimum quotas of French language music. The 1980s and 1990s witnessed developing issues raised by new technologies as compact discs, the minitel telematics system, the internet and other innovations in radio and television broadcasting posed new challenges to musicians and the music industry. These trends and developments are the subject of this volume of essays by leading scholars across a range of disciplines including French studies, musicology, cultural and media studies and film studies. It constitutes the first attempt to provide a complete and up to date overview of the place of popular music in modern France and the reception of French popular music abroad. Encyclopedia of French Film Directors Philippe

Rège, 2009-12-11 Cinema has been long associated with France dating back to 1895 when Louis and Auguste Lumière screened their works, the first public viewing of films anywhere. Early silent pioneers Georges Méliès, Alice Guy Blaché and others followed in the footsteps of the Lumière brothers and the tradition of important filmmaking continued throughout the 20th century and beyond. In Encyclopedia of French Film Directors Philippe Rège identifies every French director who has made at least one feature film since 1895. From undisputed masters to obscure one timers, nearly 3 000 directors are cited here including at least 200 filmmakers not mentioned in similar books published in France. Each director's entry contains a brief biographical summary including dates and places of birth and death, information on the individual's education and professional training and other pertinent details such as real names when the filmmaker uses a pseudonym. The entries also provide complete filmographies including credits for feature films, shorts, documentaries and television work. Some of the most important names in the history of film can be found in this encyclopedia, from masters of the Golden Age, Jean Renoir and René Clair, to French New Wave artists such as François Truffaut and Jean-Luc Godard. Canadian Film and Video

Gasca, 2013-03-07 Foreword The modern developments in mathematical biology took place roughly between 1920 and 1940 a period now referred to as the Golden Age of Theoretical Biology The eminent Italian mathematician Vito Volterra played a decisive and widely acknowledged role in these developments Volterra s interest in the application of mathematics to the non physical sciences and to biology and economics in particular dates back to the turn of the century and was expressed in his inaugural address at the University of Rome for the academic year 1900 01 VOLTERRA 1901 Nevertheless it was only in the mid twenties that Volterra entered the field in person at the instigation of his son in law Umberto D Ancona who had confronted him with the problem of competition among animal species asking him whether a mathematical treatment was possible From that time on until his death in 1940 Volterra produced a huge output of publications on the subject Volterra s specific project was to transfer the model and the concepts of classical mechanics to biology constructing a sort of rational mechanics and an analytic mechanics of biological associations The new subject was thus to be equipped with a solid experimental or at least empirical basis also in this case following the tried and tested example of mathematical physics Although very few specific features of this reductionist programme have actually survived Volterra s contribution was decisive as is now universally acknowledged in en couraging fresh studies in the field of mathematical biology
