important kitchen skills for life     Jekka's Herb Cookbook Jekka McVicar, 2012-03-31 Jekka McVicar's passion for herbs has evolved over 40 years. In this her first cookery book, queen of herbs Jekka offers over 250 original recipes using simple garden herbs along with tips for growing and maintaining them. Herbs have long been a part of British culinary history, yet few people utilise them to their full potential. Incredibly versatile, not only do herbs impart flavour, aroma and texture to dishes, they are extremely beneficial to our health. Much more than a cookbook, Jekka's Herb Kitchen features 50 herbs with a chapter and recipes devoted to each. Jekka's huge knowledge of each herb's history, cultivation and medicinal and culinary uses is unsurpassed. Her recipes are simple and economical; she shows how herbs can transform a cheap cut of meat, enliven a pasta sauce and even add delight to desserts. She also offers suggestions for how best to combine herbs and what parts to use, gives ideas for using up a glut of a specific herb and advises on how to preserve your herbs for the winter months. Moreover, this volume is a family affair: many of Jekka's recipes are inspired by her grandmother and mother, and the stunning illustrations are by Jekka's daughter, Hannah McVicar. With colour photographs throughout, this is a unique and beautiful volume from the UK's foremost authority on herbs.

In a classic new cookbook,     Mapping Appetite Pere Gallardo-Torrano, Jopi Nyman, 2009-03-26 As recent years have witnessed a strong interest in the cultural representation of the culinary, ranging from analyses of food representation in film and literature to cultural readings of recipes, menus, national cuisines and celebrity chefs, the study of food narratives amidst contemporary consumer culture has become increasingly more important. This book seeks to respond to the challenge by presenting a series of case studies dealing with the representation of food and the culinary in a variety of cultural texts, including postcolonial and popular fiction, women's magazines and food writing. The contributors to the first part of the volume explore the various functions of food in postcolonial writing, ranging from Salman Rushdie and Anita Desai to Zadie Smith and Maggie Gee in the context of globalization and multiculturalism. In the second part of the volume, the focus is on two genres of popular fiction: the romantic novel and science fiction While the romantic novels of Joanne Harris for instance link food and cooking with female empowerment in science fiction food is connected with power and technology The essays in the third part of the book explore the role of food in travel writing women s magazines and African American cookery books showing how issues of gender nation and race are present in food narratives
