Kenyan Khat Neil Carrier, 2007-03-31 This book provides a richly detailed ethnography of Kenyan khat tracing some of the many national and transnational trajectories this controversial stimulant takes from its centre of production in the Nyambene Hills to consumers in Kenya and throughout the world The author guided by his friend and khat connoisseur M Mucheke draws out the full economic social and cultural significance of the substance situating this significance within current debates on the legality of khat and the global rhetoric of the war on drugs The work explores how networks of Kenyan khat bring people of diverse backgrounds together in sometimes uneasy relationships and highlights the vast cluster of meanings this remarkable commodity has accrued in its social life

The Speed of Change Jan Bart Gewald, Sabine Luning, Klaas Van Walraven, 2009 In the early 1900s the motor vehicle car bus lorry or motor cycle was introduced in sub Saharan Africa Initially the plaything and symbol of colonial domination the motor vehicle transformed the economic and social life of the continent Indeed the motor vehicle is arguably the single most important factor for change in Africa in the twentieth century A factor for change that thus far has been neglected in research and literature Yet its impact extends across the totality of human existence from ecological devastation to economic advancement from cultural transformation to political change through to a myriad of other themes This edited volume of eleven contributions by historians anthropologists and social and political scientists explores aspects of the social history and anthropology of the motor vehicle in Africa
