UNIT 3: CULTURAL PATTERNS AND PROCESSES

Cultural landscapes are combinations of physical features, agricultural and industrial practices, religious and linguistic characteristics, evidence of human occupation, and other components of culture (including traditional and modern architecture and land use patterns).

Attitudes toward ethnicity and gender, including the role of women in the workforce, ethnic neighborhoods, and religious communities and trends help shape the use of space in a given way.

- Cultural landscapes patterns
 - Built environment
 - Evidence of occupation (human history and cultural environment)
 - The built environment as the physical manifestation of the cultural structure
- Components of culture in the cultural landscape
 - Physical features (climate, terrain, soil, water, including their effect upon agriculture and related activities)
 - Language and linguistic patterns
 - Religion (religion, the spread of ideas, religious practices)
 - Ethnicity (ethnicity in culture, culture, the spread of ideas, the world)
 - Language, ethnicity, and religion are examples of cultural patterns that shape the cultural landscape
- Ethnic neighborhoods, trends that culture can be associated to different groups of people, and the spread of culture trends to regions or regions that share the same group trends

Language, ethnicity and ethnicity contribute to a sense of place, shape the global cultural landscape.

Language, ethnicity and religion are factors creating centrifugal and centripetal forces.

- Centrifugal forces that pull people apart
 - Ethnic neighborhoods, evidence of human occupation, and other components of culture (including traditional and modern architecture and land use patterns)
- Centripetal forces that pull people together
 - Ethnic neighborhoods, evidence of human occupation, and other components of culture (including traditional and modern architecture and land use patterns)

Religion and migration - including religious, geographical, and ethnic migration - are types of diffusion.

Diffusion, process by which a feature spreads across space.

- Expansion diffusion: spread of an idea through the physical movement of people from one place to another
- Relocation diffusion: spread of an idea from person to person, often through migration
- Contagious diffusion: rapid, widespread diffusion of a characteristic through direct contact
- Stimulus diffusion: spread of an underlying principle even though a characteristic that represents it is not adopted

Interactions between and among cultural traits and larger global forces can lead to new forms of cultural expression, for example, globalization and hybrid forms.

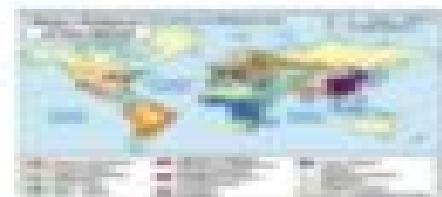

- Globalization: referring to the process by which economic, cultural, and other interactions across a wide range
- Cultural change in response to international communication

Globalization, immigration and trade helped to shape patterns and practices of culture.

- Globalization and migration of people across the globe, including economic, cultural, and other interactions across a wide range, leading to new forms of cultural expression, for example, globalization and hybrid forms
