Integrating Chinese Linguistic Research and Language Teaching and Learning Hongyin Tao, 2016-10-03

Linguistic research and language teaching have generally been viewed as two separate types of academic endeavor. While linguists have been preoccupied with pattern finding and theory building, language teachers often encounter issues that are not readily addressed by theoretical linguistic research. This collection with eleven papers touching upon a wide range of issues stands out as one of the rare concerted efforts toward a meaningful integration of the two endeavors. Subject matters include tone stress word structure grammatical categories e.g. classifiers syntactic structures including argument structure discourse particles implicit and explicit knowledge conversational repair and learner corpus. With a diverse range of theoretical orientations, this collection serves to showcase some of the productive ways to create synergy between Chinese linguistic research and language education.

A-Gong's Table George Lee, 2024-04-30 A rendering of food through the memories of family and of home over ninety plant-based recipes from George Lee, the creator of Chez Jorge with Laurent Hsia's images of Taiwan. An astonishingly accomplished exploration of flavors, ingredients, and traditions. Katy Hui-wen Hung, co-author of A Culinary History of Taipei: Beyond Pork and Ponlai. This is a beautiful love letter to Taiwan and a quietly uncompromising work of documentation. Hannah Che, author of The Vegan Chinese Kitchen. George Lee grew up with his A-Gong grandfather in the quiet refuge of Tamsui, Taiwan. He took part in the myriad Taiwanese food traditions his A-Gong nurtured until he was seventeen when his A-Gong passed. In observation of the death, he and his family undertook a set of Buddhist funeral customs and abstained from eating meat. For a hundred days they ate at the monastery, and the nuns there taught him to cook. Years later, he revisited the lessons and pieced them into the story of his family's cooking. Some recipes he shares here are directly from childhood: Han-tsai, an everyday breakfast congee floating with fist-size chunks of golden sweet potatoes and the quintessential preserve Tshi-p'o, crunchy strips of sun-dried daikon radish that salt in the air for a few days in January. Others tread the boundaries between old and new, such as Solopn, a meatless rendition of the hand-cut pork bits his mom braised in soy sauce and ladled over rice. While writing this book, George wandered all over Taiwan with his friend Laurent Hsia, who took photos along the way. Together they sought out the foods and places tied to their memories growing up. Like the grandpa who slung a bag of apples along the zebra crossing to exit the morning market, or the old couple on the bus in black and white, sitting side by side and peering forward, the two found themselves always afoot, traveling. A-Gong's Table follows the rhythm of their footsteps, a pulse that takes you quietly through the book and through Taiwan from morning to night.
