unusual president He was sometimes misunderstood and not always popular but by the time of his death in 2011 the world recognized Havel as one of the most prominent figures of the twentieth century Born into one of the most prominent and wealthy families in Prague Havel was the constant subject of attention and an artistic eccentric in a family of businessmen A young Havel and his family were cast by the Communist takeover as class enemies Havel traveled a dark road that ironically provided the experiences he needed to reconnect not only to his own ground of being but to the traditions of civic society This biography is the story of Havel's inward journey in his underground years and thus the story of how Havel the outsider became the ultimate insider as president of the nation In this intimate and sweeping portrayal of Havel David Barton reveals the eccentricities of the last president of Czechoslovakia and the first president of the Czech Republic Iourney To Self Love: Memoirs of a Butterfly Armetria Charles, 2010-07-08 A Journey to Self Love is a memoir to a path from self hatred to a path of self love Readers will experience with Armetria a journey through their hardships that they don't have to be endowed with guilt and shame or burdened by their past experiences but utilize these experiences as stepping stones to a path towards a life of love and affirmation By showing the readers how she picked up the pieces in her own life Armetria shares how to use the broken pieces to create a beautiful masterpiece Memoirs, Letters, and Miscellaneous Papers Charles Joseph prince de Ligne, 1899 Seeking Our Eden Joanne Findon, 2015-02-01 Although few nineteenth century rural Canadian women could read and write well Sarah Jameson Craig 1840 1919 was not only literate but eloquent Unlike many women writers of her time Craig lived at the bottom of the economic ladder Nevertheless she dared to dream the utopian dreams more commonly associated with educated women from the middle and upper classes Craig vividly documented her attempt to run away at age fifteen her plans to found a utopian colony based on alternative medicine and women's dress reform and her lifelong crusade for women's equality Quoting liberally from Sarah Craig's unpublished diaries and memoir Seeking Our Eden sets Craig s life writing within the context of her early days in New Brunswick her later migrations to New Jersey and then westward to Saskatchewan and British Columbia and the American based reform and utopian movements that stirred her imagination Convinced that the tight corsets and long skirts demanded by conventional fashion undermined the fight for women s equality Craig wore the reform dress a short dress over trousers despite society s disapproval and rejected opiate and alcohol based medicines in favour of the water cure Even today when the way women dress remains an issue and skepticism about conventional medicine still fuels alternative health movements Sarah Craig s early feminist voice from the margins of Canada continues to be relevant and compelling Family Conscience John D.
