Life Science Paper Gauteng:

A composite index of quality of life for the Gauteng city-region: a principal component analysis approach

Talita Greyling, The improvement of the quality of life of all South Africans is high on the agenda at national The National Planning Commission 2012 and regional levels of government The Gauteng Planning Commission 2012 and it is therefore important to develop an instrument that can measure this multi dimensional concept The need therefore exists for a composite index of quality of life with the ability to both track the quality of life of people over time and compare it across different demographic and socio economic groups Such a measure could identify those demographic and socio economic groups with low levels of quality of life and also highlight dimensions that need to be prioritised in order to improve the wellbeing of people In South Africa there are a limited number of quality of life indices and measures of wellbeing Indices that measure wellbeing nationally include the Quality of Life Index of Moller and Schlemmer 1983 the Living Standard Measure LSM Index produced by the South African Audience Research Foundation SAARF 2013 the South African Development Index of the South African Institute of Race Relations 2011 and the Everyday Quality of Life Index Higgs 2007 The following indices measure wellbeing at a regional level the Quality of Metropolitan City Life in South Africa Index Naude et al 2009 the Non Economic Quality of Life Index at Sub National Levels Rossouw Naude 2008 and the Quality of Life Index of the Gauteng City Region Observatory GCRO 2011 Although these quality of life indices make distinctive contributions to the study field the focus of these studies is often to measure only objective or subjective quality of life or only economic or non economic quality of life rather than all of the above Furthermore many of the indices use equal weighting which does not necessarily reflect the priorities of the communities

The Future of Foods

Maria G. Corradini,Tatiana Koutchma,Noemi Elisabet Zaritzky ,Isabel Sousa,2025-09-10 The future of food can take many avenues of exploration from the product itself such as unusual sources like grass microalgae acorns and so on to by products from the food industry e g fruit pomaces and brewer spent grains to disruptive technologies from data management and integration e g digital twins to processing e g additive manufacturing precision fermentations cell ag When considering the future of food sometimes this is more accurately seen as the cycle of food Development is continual but sometimes to address the future we must look historically for example a resurgence in pulses for protein or the increase in shelf stable foods due to the Covid 19 pandemic The future of food requires many considerations such as life cycle assessment customization social impact environmental impact and economic impact In particular when developing new foods with sustainability in mind eg alternative proteins one has to take into account the health benefits as well as indulgence and sensory appeal and these factors must be weighed against the financial cost of the production processes and the ultimate cost to the consumer

Who's who of Southern Africa ,2006 Vols for 1967 70 include as a section Who s who of Rhodesia Mauritius Central and East Africa Changing the Course of AIDS David Dickinson,2011-03-15 Changing the Course of AIDS is an in depth evaluation of a new and exciting way to create the kind of much needed behavioral change that could affect the course of the global health crisis of HIV AIDS This case study from the South African HIV AIDS epidemic demonstrates that regular workers serving as peer educators can be as or even more effective agents of behavioral change than experts who lecture about the facts and so called appropriate health care behavior After spending six years researching the response of large South African companies to the epidemic that is decimating their workforce as well as South African communities David Dickinson describes the promise of this grassroots intervention workers educating one another in the workplace and community and the limitations of traditional top down strategies Dickinson s book takes us right into the South African workplace to show how effective and yet enormously complex peer education really is We see what it means when workers directly tackle the kinds of sexual gender religious ethnic and broader social and political taboos that make behavior change so difficult particularly when that behavior involves sex and sexuality Dickinson s findings show that people who are not officially health care experts or even health care workers can be skilled and effective educators In this book we see why peer education has so much to offer societies grappling with the HIV AIDS epidemic and why those interested in changing behaviors to ameliorate other health problems like obesity alcoholism and substance abuse have so much to learn from the South African example Artificial Intelligence and Big Data Frans L. Leeuw,Michael Bamberger,2025-03-12 This timely book explores how Artificial Intelligence AI and Big Data contribute to the evaluation of the rule of law covering legal arrangements empirical legal research law and technology and international law and social and economic development programs in both industrialized and developing countries Issues of ethics and bias in the use of AI are also addressed and indicators of the growth of knowledge in the field are discussed Towards applying a green infrastructure approach in the Gauteng City-Region Christina Culwick,Samkelisiwe Khanyile,Kerry Bobbins,Stuart Dunsmore,Anne Fitchett,Lerato

Monama,Raishan Naidu,Gillian Sykes,Jennifer van den Bussche,Marco Vieira,2019-12-11 In the context of heightened climate variability thinking about ways to redesign our urban areas with more sustainable infrastructure solutions is becoming more and more important Green infrastructure GI is emerging as an alternative approach to traditional grey infrastructure in urban planning and development Its emergence can be understood in terms of the growing demand for infrastructure and services increased concerns over natural resource constraints and climate change and the negative impacts associated with traditional approaches to designing and building cities It has been proposed that GI can provide the same services as traditional infrastructure at a similar capital cost while also providing a range of additional benefits However despite the increasing examples of successful urban GI applications traditional infrastructure continues to dominate due to the lack of systematic evidence to support GI implementation As a result there has been an increase in calls from policy and decision makers for a greater evidence base on the benefits of GI as well as for practical guidelines on its implementation Towards applying a green infrastructure approach in the Gauteng City Region is the GCRO s third report in its ongoing research into Green assets and infrastructure The first two reports in this project series were more theoretically grounded and policy oriented whereas this third report is more practical in nature The first report explored the basic principles around GI assessed the extent of ecological features in Gauteng and the way governments in the province think about planning and maintenance of green assets The second report responded to some of the challenges identified in the first report and in particular the importance of government officials and practitioners in exploring how international green infrastructure plans could be applied in the Gauteng context This third report builds on the findings of the aforementioned reports and the project s CityLab series which highlighted the need to build an evidence base as critical for garnering support for and as well as enhancing investment in the GI approach Unlike the more theoretically grounded earlier reports this report comprises four technical sections and practical reflections on how a GI approach could be incorporated into urban planning in the GCR and in other similar urban contexts

Indigenous knowledge systems and climate change management in Africa Ajayi, O.C. (ed),Mafongoya, P.L. (ed),2017-11-15 Climate change presents a profound challenge to food security and sustainable development in Africa Its negative impacts are likely to be greatest in the African region which is already food insecure In the face of global climate change and its emerging challenges and unknowns it is essential that decision makers base policies on the best available knowledge In recent years the knowledge of local and indigenous people often referred to as indigenous knowledge IK has been increasingly recognised as an important source of climate knowledge and adaptation strategies
