Limpopo Life Anneli Ekblom, Michel Notelid, 2025-06-20 Limpopo Life introduces the reader to the material culture oral histories and the negotiation of conservation and landscape in an area now known as Limpopo National Park Introducing the archaeology of a region that has not been surveyed or discussed this book connects to the archaeology history heritage and conservation discussions in the southern African region as a whole Vegetation history and paleoecology are combined with archaeological surveys and excavations written sources oral histories and travelogues to draw a picture of the diverse landscape of the Limpopo region Intermixed within this narrative are sections that focus on an individual species a life history or an event providing a view of the complex and dynamic interactions The role of humans in this diverse environment and how they have co evolved with other species shaping each other s destinies in a consequential and accidental way is outlined This book will be of interest to researchers and students interested in the archaeology heritage and conservation of Mozambique Zimbabwe and northern South Africa It will also be of relevance to readers interested in the social history of the Limpopo and Kruger National Parks and this cross border area

Gaia's Web Karen Bakker, 2024-04-16 A riveting exploration of one of the most important dilemmas of our time will digital technology accelerate environmental degradation or could it play a role in ecological regeneration At the uncanny edge of the scientific frontier Gaia s Web explores the promise and pitfalls the Digital Age holds for the future of our planet Instead of the Internet of Things environmental scientist and tech entrepreneur Karen Bakker asks why not consider the Internet of Living Things At the surprising and inspiring confluence of our digital and ecological futures Bakker explores how the tools of the Digital Age could be mobilized to address our most pressing environmental challenges from climate change to biodiversity loss Interspersed with ten elegiac enigmatic parables each of which is based on an existing technology Gaia s Web evokes the conundrums we face as the World Wide Web intertwines with the Web of Life A new generation of innovators is deploying digital technology to come to the aid of the planet using spy satellites to track down environmental criminals inviting animals to the Metaverse and biohacking Frankenstein like biobots as environmental sentinels But will they end up doing more harm than good In an engaging take on conservation technology Bakker looks at the digital tech applications to environmental issues from predatory harvesting of environmental data to human bycatch and eco surveillance capitalism If we address these issues and mobilize digitally mediated forms of citizen science she argues digital tech could help reverse environmental harms and advance environmental sustainability And in the process Big Tech might be transformed for the better With its uniquely broad scope combining insights from computer science ecology engineering environmental science and environmental law Gaia's Web introduces profoundly novel ways of addressing our most pressing environmental challenges mitigating climate change protecting endangered species and creating new possibilities for ecological justice by empowering nonhumans to participate in environmental regulation

Natural Resources Management and Biological Sciences

Edward R Rhodes, Humood Naser, 2021-02-17 The natural resources of the Earth are indispensable for the survival of humans plants and animals and for the state of biodiversity The way they are managed determines the extent to which they will be preserved for future generations Climate change underscores the need for the proper use of natural resources This book brings together reviews of literature and the results of research studies on the status and management of soil water plant and wildlife resources especially as they relate to the biological sciences in Africa Asia Europe North America and Latin America It covers work on classification and inventories impacts of anthropogenic activities and exploitation and conservation The book will be of interest to scientists and practitioners of natural resource management worldwide

The Ethics of Participation in Environmental Field Research Lydia Gibson, Julia Sauma, 2025-07-28 Local participation is increasingly seen as a central and ethical part of environmental research As such many environmental efforts are becoming increasingly participatory Participation as a string of literature has shown has many political economic social and epistemic consequences and ethics is fluid polyvalent and contextual Right is right wrong is wrong is dangerous rhetoric that centres western experiences and forecloses the myriad realities and relations bundled within and forced upon marginalised experiences Both participation and ethics as concepts and praxis cast decades long shadows over field research particularly in anthropology yet much of these discussions are left at the threshold of interdisciplinary spaces where participation traditional and Indigenous knowledge and co production are brought in to sanitise and legitimise environmental actions Where are our lessons learned and what ought we to make of their absence The first half of this volume offers ethnographic examples that allow us to begin to ask whether participation in the capitalist machinery and colonial legacies of academic knowledge is ever even ethical The second half of the book is dedicated to anti solutions refusals to define problems and approaches in fixed closed terms from which equations calculations and solutions can be derived This book provokes important new discussions about ethical participation in environmental field research by bringing to the fore the fluid nature of both ethics and participation The volume aims to provide critical intervention for students and researchers across natural and social sciences whose fieldwork includes engagement with local communities and stakeholders as well as conservation policymakers and practitioners who consult and work with local communities

Communicating Endangered Species Eric Freedman, Sara Shipley Hiles, David B. Sachsman, 2021-08-04 Communicating Endangered Species Extinction News and Public Policy is a multidisciplinary environmental communication book that takes a distinctive approach by connecting how media and culture depict and explain endangered species with how policymakers and natural resource managers can or do respond to these challenges in practical terms Extinction isn't new However the pace of extinction is accelerating globally The International Union for Conservation of Nature classifies more than 26 000 species as threatened The causes are many including climate change overdevelopment human exploitation disease overhunting habitat destruction and predators The willingness and the ability of ordinary people governments scientists nongovernmental organizations and businesses to slow this deeply disturbing acceleration are uncertain Meanwhile researchers around the world are laboring to better understand and communicate the possibility and implications of extinctions and to discover effective tools and public policies to combat the threats to species survival This book presents a history of news coverage of endangered species around the world examining how and why journalists and other communicators wrote what they did how attitudes have changed and why they have changed It draws on the latest research by chapter authors who are a mix of social scientists communication experts and natural scientists Each chapter includes a mass media and or cultural aspect This book will be essential reading for students natural resource managers government officials environmental activists and academics interested in conservation and biodiversity environmental communication and journalism and public policy

The Violence of Conservation in Africa Ramutsindela, Maano, Matose, Frank, Mushonga, Tafadzwa, 2022-01-11 Offering insights on violence in conservation this timely book demonstrates how and why the state in Africa pursues conservation objectives to the detriment of its citizens It focuses on how the dehumanization of black people and indigenous groups the insertion of global green agendas onto the continent a lack of resource sovereignty and neoliberal conservation account for why violence is a permanent feature of conservation in Africa

Situational Prevention of Poaching Andrew Lemieux, 2014-03-05 For centuries criminologists have looked for scientific ways to study understand and ultimately prevent crime In this volume a unique offense poaching is explored in various contexts to determine what opportunity structures favor this crime and how situational crime prevention may reduce its prevalence The data sources used range from publically available secondary data about animal populations to interviews with hunters to actual law enforcement data collected inside protected areas Various methods are utilized to look for patterns in poaching behaviour regarding where poachers strike which species they target and their modus operandi Collectively the volume shows that principles of criminal opportunity theory and situational crime prevention are useful for studying and preventing poaching in a variety of contexts The methods employed by each chapter are easily replicated and meant to stimulate empirical poaching research where data is available While the theoretical grounding of this volume is drawn from criminology it is written for a broad audience of academics practitioners and those interested in wildlife conservation

Biological Science Jon Scott, Anne Goodenough, Gus Cameron, Dawn Hawkins, Martin Luck, Jenny Koenig, Alison Snape, Despo Papachristodoulou, Kay Yeoman, Mark Goodwin, 2022 A fresh approach to biology centred on a clear narrative active learning and confidence with quantitative concepts and scientific enquiry Spanning the breadth of biological science and designed for flexible learning it will give you a deeper understanding of the key concepts and an appreciation of biology as a dynamic experimental science

The COVID-19 Pandemic and the Politics of Life Innocent Moyo, Sabelo J. Ndlovu-Gatsheni, 2023-08-04 This book explores the extent to which the COVID 19 pandemic is poised to be a permanent fixture in the modern world which in contemporary times will be thought of in terms of before and after the pandemic It looks at how the pandemic has brought to the fore the question of the appropriate ethics politics and spirituality and highlights the present condition of humanity and the need to rethink alternative planetary futures It argues that the pandemic has existential and epistemic implications for human life on planet Earth and a post COVID 19 future requires a fundamental transformation of the present economic political and social conditions Drawing on empirical case studies on the COVID 19 pandemic from Africa and beyond contributions in this book challenge the reader to rethink alternative planetary futures It will be a useful resource for students scholars and researchers of African studies citizenship studies global development global politics human geography migration studies development studies international studies international relations and political science
