WIP: The Executioners Three (TET)

I'm avoiding writing. I don't know why — once I start, I tend to get in the zone and this next scene should be exciting. I guess I'm scared. It's daunting — completely rewriting a book. AGAIN. There is time #3 and I feel like I don't quite have Fiddle's voice — maybe I'm trying too hard on not hard enough. It feels kinda meh is all I know. Plus, I don't have Simon's voice at all... But HEY, soooz Did you have Sam or Sasha right away? No. It took some false starts and rewrites. So why are you expecting so much? All I need to do is hammer out a scene a day until I leave for Australia (or hit 100 pages). If I can get 16 pages/day, I'll reach my goal by November. Remember: there's no real rush here. Truthswitch is on submissions, Karen can WAIT for this, and book 3 is all done. Books take time, soooz. Patience.

Now, go write the next scene. ♥

HOURS LATER: Okay. ~900 words and some ~~more~~ editing of scene 1 later, and I'm trying to psych myself up to scene #3. I have a total of 10-11 pages, which puts me EXACTLY on track. But I'd rather get AHEAD of track. ☺

Journal Writing in Second Language Education Christine Pearson Casanave, 2011-02-04 Journal writing is not new journals have been around for centuries More recently journals have been viewed as a means of scaffolding reflective teaching and encouraging reflectivity in research processes As a result some educators may ask What more do we need to know Those likely to raise this question are probably not thinking of the explosive growth of reflective writing enabled by social networking on the Web the blogs and other interactive e vehicles for reflection on experiences in our literate real and virtual lives This revisiting of journal writing from a 21st century perspective informed by relevant earlier literature is what Christine Pearson Casanave guides readers through in this first book length treatment of the use of journal writing in the contexts of language learning pre and in service teaching and research Casanave has put together existing ideas that haven t been put together before and has done it not as an edited collection but as a single authored book She has done it in a way that will be especially accessible to teachers in language teacher education programs and to practicing teachers and researchers of writing in both second and foreign language settings and in a way that will inspire all of us to think about not just do journal writing Those who have never attempted to use journals in their classes and own lives as well as others who have used it with mixed results will probably be tempted to try it in at least some of the venues Casanave provides guidance for Those already committed to journal writing will very likely find in this book new reasons for expanding and enhancing their use of journals
