

TOPIC 1- GENETICS

Definition

- Genetics is the study of heredity and variation.
- Heredity is the passing on/ transmission of characteristics/ traits from the parents to the offspring/ young ones.
- Variation refers to observable differences that are seen in organisms of the same species or differences between organisms.
- Species refers to a group of organisms that are able to freely and naturally interbreed to give rise to a viable offspring.
- The offspring show slight differences from their parents. For example in human beings, members of the same family differ in shape of nose, skin colour and height.
- This is because of hereditary factors/ genes each of them acquires from parents and the effect of environment.

VARIATION.

- This is the differences among organisms of the same species.
- Variations in human beings are shown in tongue rolling, fingerprints, height, and type of earlobes (attached or free), sex, blood groups, skin colour, and weight.
- In plants variations are observed in length of leaves and internodes and size of fruits.

Types of variation.

- a) Discontinuous variation.
- b) Continuous variation.

A. Discontinuous variation

- This is a type of variation where there is a distinct/ definite difference in a given characteristic/ without intermediates.
- It is controlled by genes and the environment has no effect.
- Examples include:
 1. Ability to roll the tongue.
 2. Sex i.e. male or female.
 3. ABO Blood groups/ ABO Blood group system.
 4. Presence of hair in the nose or ear pinna.
 5. Fingerprints.
 6. Free or attached earlobes.
 7. Wing length, size of abdomen, eye color in Drosophila melanogaster.
 8. Smooth/wrinkled seed coat, green/yellow color in garden peas.
 9. Melanic/light forms in moths.

B. Continuous variation.

- This is a type of variation which shows a wide range of differences for the same characteristic/ trait from one extreme end to the other with intermediates.
- It is controlled by both genes and environment.
- Examples include:
 1. Height.
 2. Weight.
 3. Stem diameter.
 4. Skin colour in humans.
 5. Size of seeds and fruits.
 6. Length of fingers in humans.
 7. Milk yield in cows.
 8. Length of leaves.

- a) For example, when the number of students is plotted against height it gives a normal distribution curve.

Causes of variation

1. Gamete formation—during gamete formation/ meiosis, the following meiotic processes cause variation namely:
 - a) Crossing over—exchange of chromatid segments cause new gene combinations which causes variation.
 - b) Independent assortment—this is the arrangement of homologous chromosomes at the equator of the spindle during metaphase I.
 - This is followed by segregation/ separation into different daughter cells. The resulting daughter cells/ gametes contain different genetic combination which brings about variation.
2. Fertilization—it allows parental genes to be brought together in different combination.
 - This causes different qualities of parents to be combined differently in the offspring.
3. Mutations—mutation is the spontaneous change in the genetic make-up of an organism. These changes may be inherited by the offspring causing variations.

Importance of variation

1. Organisms/ individuals with advantageous traits/ variations are favored/ selected by nature and survive to pass on the traits to their offspring.
2. It ensures propagation of favorable/ advantageous traits to the future generation/ offspring ensuring quality population/ species.

THE CHROMOSOMES

- They are thread-like structures found in the nuclei of plant and animal cells.
- They contain genetic material called DNA (Deoxyribonucleic acid).
- Each chromosome is made up of two parallel strands called chromatids.
- Each pair of chromatids is connected at one point by a structure called Centromere.
- In body/ somatic cells each pair of chromosomes has the same length and shape but different versions of the same genes. They are therefore called homologous chromosomes.
- During sexual reproduction, each parent contributes one of the chromosomes of the homologous pair.
