Design for Transport Mike Tovey, 2016-04-15 The central premise of Design for Transport is that the designer's role is to approach design for transport from the point of view of the user. People have a collection of wants and needs and a significant proportion of them are to do with their requirements for mobility. The authors show how creative designers can take a user-focused approach for a wide range of types of transport products and systems. In so doing their starting point is one of creative dissatisfaction with what is currently available and their specialist capability is in imagining and developing new solutions which respond to that opportunity. How this is tackled varies depending on the context and the variety of solutions produced reflects the different aspirations and needs of the people they are designing for. The chapters cover user needs and transport design and the transport system, transport design case studies and the case for the automobile. A conclusion briefly signals what the future for transport design might be. Lavishly illustrated throughout in four colour. Design for Transport is an imaginative and rigorous guide to how designers can take a user-centred and socially responsible approach to tackling a range of types of transport from systems to products and from bicycles to automobiles, demonstrating a rich array of solutions through case studies.

Low Carbon Mobility Transitions Debbie Hopkins, James Higham, 2016-11-30 A thorough examination of how methods of low carbon transport can be implemented using international case studies with contributions from recognised industry experts, academics and policy makers.

Rumours of Our Being Udayan M Kishore, 2023-12-11 JAY 23 DESPERATELY WANTS TO TALK TO SOMEONE BECAUSE HE IS ABOUT TO COMMIT SUICIDE BUT ALL HE CAN GET ON THE PHONE IS A CALL GIRL. When I imagined the crowd I wondered how insignificant I was. Not just among all those people in the metro but in the entire city and then on this entire earth. And then I imagined myself in the entire universe. I realised I was just a grain of sand on earth. Or even that is an overstatement. That was depressing. Really depressing. Then I thought about me, not me in the world but just me. I tried to feel and realise every part of my body. I'd move a finger or a toe and then stop it. I would stop breathing and then resume. I touched my nose and felt its shape. I opened my eyes and immediately closed them. I tried to feel my heartbeat. I was trying to feel how much control I had over my body. From there I started thinking about me, the one who was ordering the fingers, toes, hands or feet to move or stop. The one trying to feel the heartbeat. Whatever you call that, a soul or consciousness or whatever the hell that was me. That and only that was me.

So while we may think we want to be rich, powerful, successful, popular, or whatever, all that we actually want is to be happy. Always happy. Yet happiness proves both transient and elusive. In reality, happiness lies within each one of us. It is our true nature. We simply have to uncover it by getting rid of all the wrong notions and false assumptions about ourselves that we hold unexamined.
