Education:

Quaid after matriculation went for higher education in England. He was a brilliant student and hence he was given admission in the university in London where he studied the advanced aspects of law and completed his graduation. After his graduation, he returned back to India. He started his law practice in Bombay at the age of twenty years. In this regard he was the only Muslim barrister at that time. Throughout his profession he advocated in English language for the Muslim. The famous Hindu Mahasabha leader of all Bombay invited him to work for the Muslims but he refused the position.

Political career:

Quaid joined Indian National Congress in 1886 and at that time he supported Hindu-Muslim unity. When he was informed about all those Hindu extremist leaders he was greatly disappointed. He found that Hindu leaders are not sincere to Muslims, he decided to quit Indian National Congress and joined Muslim League in 1913.

Quaid thought that since he inspired the Muslims of India and worked hard for the betterment of Indian Muslims and demanded the separate national for the suppressed Indian Muslims. Many problems were created by the ruling class of that time but he had to face the hostility and problems with his students. He introduced the new nation theory which united all the Muslims of India.
