

Agriculture: Bearer Plants (Amendments to IAS 16 and IAS 41)

At a glance

Agriculture: Bearer Plants (Amendments to IAS 16 and IAS 41) was issued in June 2014. The amendments change the financial reporting for bearer plants such as grape vines, rubber trees and oil palms. The new requirements are effective from 1 January 2016, with earlier application permitted.

Prior to these amendments, IAS 41 Agriculture required all biological assets related to agricultural activity to be measured at fair value less costs to sell. This is based on the principle that the biological transformation that these assets undergo during their lifespan is best reflected by fair value measurement. However, there is a subset of biological assets, known as bearer plants, which are used solely to grow produce over several periods. At the end of their productive lives they are usually scrapped. Once a bearer plant is mature, apart from bearing produce, its biological transformation is no longer significant in generating future economic benefits. The only significant future economic benefits it generates come from the agricultural produce that it creates.

The IASB decided that bearer plants should be accounted for in the same way as property, plant and equipment in IAS 16 Property, Plant and Equipment, because their operations is similar to that of manufacturing. Consequently, the amendments exclude them within the scope of IAS 41, instead of IAS 41. The produce growing on bearer plants will remain within the scope of IAS 41.
