Liberalizing Trade in Services Bernard M. Hoekman, 2006 Abstract Since the mid 1980s a substantial amount of research has been undertaken on trade in services Much of this is inspired by the World Trade Organization or regional trade agreements especially the European Union but an increasing number of papers focus on the impacts of services sector liberalization This paper surveys the literature focusing on contributions that investigate the determinants of international trade and investment in services the potential gains from greater trade and liberalization and efforts to cooperate to achieve such liberalization through trade agreements It concludes that there is increasing evidence that services liberalization is an important source of potential welfare gains but relatively little research has been done that can inform the design of international cooperation both trade agreements and development assistance so as to more effectively promote development objectives

Accounting and the Global Economy After Sarbanes-Oxley Don E. Garner, David L McKee, Yosra AbuAmara McKee, 2014-12-18 This book is essential for students and practitioners in accounting international business finance and economics In a straightforward and readable style it focuses on the changing accounting and auditing standards in national and global economies in the post Enron Arthur Andersen era The authors clarify the reasons behind and consequences of the accounting profession s failure in auditing and self regulation as most firms placed consulting profits ahead of public audit duties They show how Sarbanes Oxley solutions while not perfect are major contributors to the profession s redemption and have enabled it to rise to new heights of service and revenue The book offers a detailed examination of accounting practitioners past challenges and future prospects It provides a realistic analysis of specific issues facing accounting and auditing firms today including the growing problem of independence the need for one set of international accounting standards and one set of auditing standards adjustments facing the global financial system and the impact of the Internet and communication systems on accounting firms
