Circles Grecques Avec Avis Des Lecteurs:

Circles of Learning Jenny Mander, 1999 By according a central place to the history of reading Circles of learning radically rethinks the nature of first person narrative during this period and reconsiders its relation to the autobiographical discourse Jenny Mander argues that to understand better both the history of the novel and that of the autobiography we need first to examine the position of the modern reader The study begins with a critical analysis of Genettian narratology in order to foreground a number of important presuppositions of twentieth century reading practices and it goes on to show how these have shaped modern criticism of past texts Through a detailed examination of eighteenth century prefatory discourse and Marivaux's concept of personal style as put forward in his journalistic writings Jenny Mander demonstrates how twentieth century interpretations can be brought into question by the eighteenth century novel itself Adducing models of good reading promoted by pedagogic literature and art as well as by specific scenes of reading within many novels she is able to ground an alternative analysis of Marivaux's Paysan parvenu and Prevost's Memoires d'un homme de qualite in the practices of eighteenth century readers drawing further support from contemporary reviews This challenging study concludes by showing not only how Prevost's writing sets these practices in yet clearer relief but also how he points to and participates in their transformation Offering a fresh perspective on first person narrative at a formative moment in the history of the French novel Circles of learning will interest scholars and theorists of modern prose fiction and autobiography as well as those specialising in eighteenth century literature     Studies on Voltaire and the Eighteenth Century, 1999
