Thinking About Schools

Aimee Howley, Craig Howley, 2012-11-12 As its title implies this book has a deceptively simple mission to prepare would be school leaders to draw upon a variety of theoretical perspectives when thinking about schools and schooling It shows how theories can function as cognitive tools to be mastered carefully stored in one s intellectual toolbox and used to interpret and resolve real world problems Beneath this goal lies the belief that the most effective leaders are those who are able to construct their own well grounded interpretations of events and their own responses to those events Key features of this exciting new text include the following Focus on Alternative Theories The functionalist theoretical views that have dominated administrator preparation programs for the last half century are reviewed early in the book and are shown to be inadequate to the task of understanding and coping with the complex realities of modern day schooling The remainder of the book presents alternative views of schooling that taken together can be thought of as a theoretical repertoire from which to construct interpretations and solutions to everyday real world problems Focus on Diversity Diversity is examined from a variety of viewpoints Chapter 6 looks at the cultural bases of leadership Chapter 7 at comparative and international contexts and Chapter 8 at gender and sexual orientation Illustrative Cases Each chapter contains a case with an embedded dilemma similar to those that real world administrators confront While illustrating the particular theoretical view presented in the chapter these cases are sufficiently complex that they lend themselves to interpretation by any of the other theories considered in the book This book is appropriate for graduate level courses with titles such as Organizational Theory Theory of School Leadership or Introduction to Educational Administration It might also be used as one of several texts in advanced courses on leadership theory

The Algebra Miracle: The True Story of a High-Poverty School's Triumph in the Age of Accountability Stuart Alan Singer,2012-02-21 A miracle is defined as a highly improbable or extraordinary accomplishment The story of the Algebra program at JEB Stuart High School in Fairfax Virginia qualifies for such a designation Over a period of fifteen years a series of ambitious no cost innovations which challenged the prevailing status quo in math education led to a set of academic accomplishments that were indeed improbable and extraordinary This miracle was achieved by a high poverty ethnically diverse student body that was unique at the time but is now representative of schools found throughout the U S For everyone touched by education from parents and students to teachers and administrators The Algebra Miracle will provide insights into the complexity of finding a low cost formula for academic success in the tight budgetary times of the 21st century This story serves as a model of what can be accomplished when a dedicated school staff commits its time energy and creativity to the needs of their students

Implementing School-based Management Harry P. Hatry,1993 This report presents the findings and recommendations of an examination of the implementation of a major form of school based management SBM It is based on case studies of the science and mathematics departments of 10 high schools and 9 middle or junior high schools in 12 school systems almost all of which are urban school districts The study found that implementation often falls short of the ideal It did not find dramatic changes resulting from SBM However those schools and faculty members that took advantage of their added flexibility under SBM were able to achieve numerous small scale improvements The report provides a series of recommendations for school districts and individual schools to increase the likelihood of successful implementation of decentralization efforts such as SBM The findings and recommendations cover such issues as 1 the extent of decentralization of budgeting expenditure and personnel decisions 2 the role of site councils and department heads and 3 communication and training needs Appendixes list participating schools and districts and contain a literature review Contains 117 references Author SLD
