years car production in the United States has undergone changes on a scale unknown since the pioneering era prior to World War One New plants have been opened in the interior of the country while most of those located along the east and west coast have been closed The Changing U S Auto Industry uses concepts drawn from geography such as access to markets and shipments of parts to understand some of the reasons for the recent changes Also critical is the changing role of labour in the production process including the search by Japanese firms for a union free environment the re location of some production to Mexico and the debate over the appropriate level of union management cooperation America's Training Needs United
