

FIGURATIVE LANGUAGE

Simile

A simile is a type of figurative language which is used to compare one thing against another. Similes compare the likeness of two things and often feature the words 'like' or 'as': "As strong as an ox/ As brave as a lion."

Metaphor

A metaphor is a phrase describing something as something it is not in reality. It is used to compare two things symbolically. A metaphor literally describes something as something it is not. "Love is a battlefield"

Oxymoron

An oxymoron is a term which features two words which appear to contradict each other but make sense of the situation overall.

- For example: That woman is pretty ugly.

Hyperbole

A hyperbole is a figure of speech which exaggerates the meaning of a sentence.

- For example: My granddad is as old as time.

Idiom

An idiom is a phrase which bears no literal meaning to the situation it is describing but it implies the facts or story behind it.

- For example: There is a silver lining in every cloud.

Personification

Personification is a type of figurative language. It is used to give an inanimate object or item a sense of being alive. The speaker would talk to the object as if it could understand and was intelligent.

- For example: Why are you so heavy, suitcase?

Symbolism

Symbolism is another form of figurative language which is used to express an abstract idea using an item or words.

- For example: We had to put out a red alert.

Alliteration

Alliteration is a type of figurative speech in which the repetition of letters or sounds is used within one sentence.

- For example: Eagles end up eating entrails.

Onomatopoeia

Onomatopoeia is a form of figurative language in which words which are used to describe a sound actually resemble the sound they are referring to.

- For example: The ghost said boo.

Puns

Puns are a form of figurative language which create a play on words. They add an extra meaning to a subject and are often seen as a form of joke or to be humorous.

- For example: A horse is a very stable animal.

Irony

A form of figurative speech is irony. This is when a statement made is directly contradictory to the reality. It is also used to convey a style of sarcasm.

For example:

- I posted on Facebook about how bad Facebook is.
- I won the lottery on my retirement day.

Posthuman Lear Craig Dionne, 2016 Be sure to fasten your seatbelts while reading Craig Dionne's POSTHUMAN LEAR. In addition to being a wild ride through time and space hurtling from late antiquity to post Fukushima radiated Japan by way of Shakespeare's motley crew of castaways on a storm battered heath, the book also offers a reparative salve for our troubled anthropocene. As long as we speak what we feel and reversing Edgar's famous line even what we ought to say with the shards and broken fragments of borrowed proverbial speech, we will at least have shelter with each other and with a newly denuded world and in a consoling if partly ruined human language from the coming Winter.

Eileen Joy: Craig Dionne has written Shakespearean criticism as it should be written: theoretically sophisticated, historically situated, while tied to the present moment and thoroughly engaging. As a piece of writing, Posthuman Lear will change the way you think about Lear and about the work we do.

Sharon O Dair: Approaching King Lear from an eco-materialist perspective, Posthuman Lear examines how the shift in Shakespeare's tragedy from court to stormy heath activates a different sense of language as tool, being from that of participating in the flourish of aristocratic prodigality and circumstance to that of survival and pondering one's interdependence with a denuded world. Dionne frames the thematic arc of Shakespeare's tragedy about the fall of a king as a tableau of our post-sustainable condition. For Dionne, Lear's progress on the heath works as a parable of flat ontology. At the center of Dionne's analysis of rhetoric and prodigality in the tragedy is the argument that adages and proverbs, working as embodied forms of speech, offer insight into a nonhuman fragmentary mode of consciousness. The Renaissance fascination with memory and proverbs provides an opportunity to reflect on the human as an instance of such enmeshed being where the habit of articulating memorized patterns of speech works on a somatic level. Dionne theorizes how mnemonic memory functions as a potentially empowering mode of consciousness inherited by our evolutionary history as a species, revealing how our minds work as imprinted machines to recall past prohibitions and useful affective scripts to aid in our interaction with the environment. The proverb is that linguistic inscription that defines the equivalent of human animal imprinting where the past is etched upon collective memory within adagential being that lives on through the generations as autonomic cues for survival. Dionne's reimagining of this tragedy is important in the way it places Shakespeare's central existential questions—the meaning of familial love, commitments to friends, our place in a secular world—in a new relation to the main question of surviving within fixed environmental limits. Along the way, Dionne reflects on the larger theoretical implications of recycling the old historicism of early modern culture to speak to an eco-materialism and why the modernist textual aesthetics of the self-distancing text seems inadequate when considering the uncertainty and trauma that underscores life in a post-sustainable culture. Dionne's final appeal is to repurpose our fatalism in the face of ecological Journalist as a Naturalist Pablo Calvi, 2024-11-09 This book is a scholarly anthology that proposes a deep discussion about the multiple ways in which narrative journalism has portrayed nature human interactions with nature the global actions and the consequences of activities that have either attempted to explore it exploit it harness it dominate it and protect it This essay collection offers an academic framework for literary journalistic narratives about nature and includes the study of long form journalism originated in different corners of the world all exploring human non human nature interactions in all their power finitude peril and urgency Japan at Nature's Edge Ian Jared Miller, Julia Adeney Thomas, Brett L.

Walker, 2013-07-01 Japan at Nature's Edge is a timely collection of essays that explores the relationship between Japan's history culture and physical environment It greatly expands the focus of previous work on Japanese modernization by examining Japan's role in global environmental transformation and how Japanese ideas have shaped bodies and landscapes over the centuries The immediacy of Earth's environmental crisis a predicament highlighted by Japan's March 2011 disaster brings a sense of urgency to the study of Japan and its global connections The work is an environmental history in the broadest sense of the term because it contains writing by environmental anthropologists a legendary Japanese economist and scholars of Japanese literature and culture The editors have brought together an unparalleled assemblage of some of the finest scholars in the field who rather than treat it in isolation or as a unique cultural community seek to connect Japan to global environmental currents such as whaling world fisheries mountaineering and science mining and industrial pollution and relations with nonhuman animals The contributors assert the importance of the environment in understanding Japan's history and propose a new balance between nature and culture one weighted much more heavily on the side of natural legacies This approach does not discount culture Instead it suggests that the Japanese experience of nature like that of all human beings is a complex and intimate negotiation between the physical and cultural worlds Contributors Daniel P Aldrich Jakobina Arch Andrew Bernstein Philip C Brown Timothy S George Jeffrey E Hanes David L Howell Federico Marcon Christine L Marran Ian Jared Miller Micah Muscolino Ken ichi Miyamoto Sara B Pritchard Julia Adeney Thomas Karen Thornber William M Tsutsui Brett L Walker Takehiro Watanabe Monthly Catalogue, United States Public

Documents, 1983 Ecological Footprints in Literature: An Excursion into Selected Nature Writings and Nature Novels Dr. Archana R. Kadiyan, 2022-08-22 The book provides a comprehensive view of the environmental discourses that are found in the literary representations of the natural world The book presents an in depth analysis of the symbolic manifestations of the outer world in various genres of literature such as nature novels and nature or ecological writings It deeply captures the mutual interactions that occur between the human and the non human world that tend to influence each other's actions and processes By exploring the ecocritical leanings and tracing all the phases of Anthropocene the book takes its readers for a deep excursion into the beautiful dynamic natural and overtly spiritual world of Nature as exhibited in the writings such as

Thoreau's Walden Khushwant Singh's Nature Watch and Starhawk's The Earth Path which is contrasted against the eco-catastrophic world of Rachel Carson's Silent Spring An insightful and analytical journey into the world of more unique portrayals of the ecological world that tend to strike a balance between two distinct worlds the real and the imaginative the spiritual and the material as well as the natural and the man-made as reflected in the nature novels George Eliot's Mill on the Floss Khushwant Singh's I Shall not Hear the Nightingale Starhawk's Fifth Sacred Thing and Ernest Callenbach's Ecotopia A Novel The book thus with its underpinning wisdom will be an interesting and more enlightening read for the critics academicians and researchers

Cyberculture, Cyborgs and Science Fiction William S. Haney II, 2006-01-01 Addressing a key issue related to human nature this book argues that the first person experience of pure consciousness may soon be under threat from posthuman biotechnology In exploiting the mind s capacity for instrumental behavior posthumanists seek to extend human experience by physically projecting the mind outward through the continuity of thought and the material world as through telepresence and other forms of prosthetic enhancements Posthumanism envisions a biology machine symbiosis that will promote this extension arguably at the expense of the natural tendency of the mind to move toward pure consciousness As each chapter of this book contends by forcibly overextending and thus jeopardizing the neurophysiology of consciousness the posthuman condition could in the long term undermine human nature defined as the effortless capacity for transcending the mind s conceptual content Presented here for the first time the essential argument of this book is more than a warning it gives a direction far better to practice patience and develop pure consciousness and evolve into a higher human being than to fall prey to the Faustian temptations of biotechnological power As argued throughout the book each person must choose for him or herself between the technological extension of physical experience through mind body and world on the one hand and the natural powers of human consciousness on the other as a means to realize their ultimate vision
