Dwelling in Mobile Times Sybille Frank, Lars Meier, 2019-05-16 In an era of increasing mobilities places of residence are still vital Unlike commuting migrating or travelling dwelling usually evokes at least in modern Western thought the idea of an immobile private place to rest This book explores the places spaces and practices of dwelling in mobile times and considers dwelling under the umbrella of broader transformations in society The manifestations of these transformations are carved out on the level of everyday practices and experiences Bringing together eight case studies from Europe the USA and Asia on subjects such as gentrification homelessness and displaced persons multi local and diasporic lifeworlds professional elites and tourism the book explores various and complex entanglements of mobilities and dwelling in detail In doing so the contributors critically analyse who may be or has to be mobile under which circumstances at present This book thus demonstrates that mobility is more than movement between localities and that to dwell is more than to be at a locality Instead mobilities and dwelling are both shaped and challenged by strong but shifting power relations and are thus deeply contested This book was originally published as a special issue of Cultural Studies original and important contribution to the history and international relations of Iran Russia and the Middle East

Central Peripheries Marlene Laruelle, 2021-07-01 Central Peripheries explores post Soviet Central Asia through the prism of nation building Although relative latecomers on the international scene the Central Asian states see themselves as globalized and yet in spite of or perhaps precisely because of this they hold a very classical vision of the nation state rejecting the abolition of boundaries and the theory of the death of the nation Their unabashed celebration of very classical nationhoods built on post modern premises challenges the Western view of nationalism as a dying ideology that ought to have been transcended by post national cosmopolitanism Marlene Laruelle looks at how states in the region have been navigating the construction of a nation in a post imperial context where Russia remains the dominant power and cultural reference She takes into consideration the ways in which the Soviet past has influenced the construction of national storylines as well as the diversity of each state's narratives and use of symbolic politics Exploring state discourses academic narratives and different forms of popular nationalist storytelling allows Laruelle to depict the complex construction of the national pantheon in the three decades since independence The second half of the book focuses on Kazakhstan as the most hybrid national construction and a unique case study of nationhood in Eurasia Based on the principle that only multidisciplinary can help us to untangle the puzzle of nationhood Central Peripheries uses mixed methods combining political science intellectual history sociology and cultural anthropology It is inspired by two decades of fieldwork in the region and a deep knowledge of the region's academia and political environment Praise for Central Peripheries Marlene Laruelle paves the way to the more focused and necessary outlook on Central Asia a region that is not a periphery but a central space for emerging conceptual debates and complexities Above all the book is a product of Laruelle's trademark excellence in balancing empirical depth with vigorous theoretical advancements Diana T Kudaibergenova University of Cambridge Using the concept of hybridity Laruelle explores the multitude of historical political and geopolitical factors that predetermine different ways of looking at nations and various configurations of nation building in post Soviet Central Asia Those manifold contexts present a general picture of the transformation that the former southern periphery of the USSR has been going through in the past decades Sergey Abashin European University at St Petersburg
