Lesson Plan

Texts & Materials

Meet Addy: An American Girl | 700L

Learning Goal

Identify and describe evidence in a text, showing that it is historical fiction.

Duration

Approximately 50 minutes

Necessary Materials

Provided: Example Chart for Direct Teaching and Guided Practice, Independent Practice Worksheet

Not Provided: Meet Addy: An American Girl by Connie Porter, chart paper, markers

Teacher Modeling

I will introduce, explain, and chart the three main characteristics of historical fiction: the story is set in a historical time period; the characters are fictional; the story is based on historical facts. I will read the title and inside cover or back (the location of the synopsis differs depending on the edition you have) of Meet Addy: An American Girl by Connie Porter. I will add information from the inside or back cover to the characteristics chart. (Direct Teaching and Guided Practice Chart is provided below in Teacher and Student Materials.) For example, "The story takes place in 1854, during the time of slavery. We know that slavery really did exist in the late 1800s, so this gives us a clue that the book will be historical fiction. We also see that this book is going to tell us a story but not necessarily just give us information. Usually fiction texts tell a story and do not exclusively give information, so we can conclude that the text is fiction."
