Science and Technology in World History James Edward McClellan, Harold Dorn, 2006-04-14 Publisher description

The Perils of Human Exceptionalism Dennis L. Durst, 2022-07-18 Over the course of the nineteenth century transatlantic intellectuals slowly revised theological anthropology or the doctrine of humanity seen in light of the divine Gradually elite discourse deposed humanity from its lofty estate and centering it within a naturalistic account wherein likeness to animal fauna became the central evaluative lens Durst argues that theological anthropologies across the disciplines increasingly shifted focus away from classic confessional themes such as the soul and the image of God and toward the methods of natural theology and intuitionism This occurred in the form of challenges to theology in biology phrenology transcendentalism anti theology Christian socialism intuitionism and religious experience The human soul and human sinfulness also found a revised articulation in terms increasingly shaped by the cultural authority of science An ascendant subjective approach to human nature emerged whereby religious experiences not theological claims to truth assumed prominence as the central measures of religious life

Science and Technology in World History James E. McClellan III, Harold Dorn, 2015-12-15 Arguably the best general history of science and technology ever published Tracing the relationship between science and technology from the dawn of civilization to the early twenty first century James E. McClellan III and Harold Dorn's bestselling book argues that technology as applied science emerged relatively recently as industry and governments began funding scientific research that would lead directly to new or improved technologies McClellan and Dorn identify two great scientific traditions the useful sciences which societies patronized from time immemorial and the exploration of questions about nature itself which the ancient Greeks originated The authors examine scientific traditions that took root in China India and Central and South America as well as in a series of Near Eastern empires in late antiquity and the Middle Ages From this comparative perspective McClellan and Dorn survey the rise of the West the Scientific Revolution of the seventeenth century the Industrial Revolution and the modern marriage of science and technology They trace the development of world science and technology today while raising provocative questions about the sustainability of industrial civilization This new edition of Science and Technology in World History offers an enlarged thematic introduction and significantly extends its treatment of industrial civilization and the technological supersystem built on the modern electrical grid The Internet and social media receive increased attention Facts and figures have been thoroughly updated and the work includes a comprehensive Guide to Resources incorporating the major published literature along with a vetted list of websites and Internet resources for students and lay readers

Methexiology Nicolas Laos, 2016-05-19 Methexiology is not a particular theory but rather a general philosophical orientation Therefore in Methexiology Philosophical Theology and Theological Philosophy for the Deification of Humanity Nicolas Laos elucidates the significance of methexiology for the study of ontology epistemology ethics philosophical psychology theory of justice philosophy of history and philosophy of religion Laos argues that faced with the modern and the postmodern crises of meaning we need a new myth a new spiritual formula for the resacralization of humanity and the cosmos without restoring defunct totems without using tales as cheap substitutes for the lack of a life giving myth and without negating history In his Methexiology Laos studies the genealogy of the modern and the postmodern crises of meaning and based on his new interpretation of classical Greek philosophy and Hesychasm proposes methexiology as a way of overcoming the crises of meaning and as a way of resacralizing humanity and the cosmos through a new metaphysically grounded humanism that supports and refutes them This title incorporates research helping students to probe for the purposes and biological origins of behavior the whys and hows of Human Psychology

Politics and the Sciences of Culture in Germany, 1840-1920 Woodruff D. Smith,1991 Examining the ways in which politics and ideology stimulate and shape changes in human science this book focuses on the cultural sciences in nineteenth and early twentieth century Germany The book argues that many of the most important theoretical directions in German cultural science had their origins in a process by which a general pattern of social scientific thinking one that was closely connected to political liberalism and dominant in Germany and elsewhere before the mid nineteenth century fragmented in the face of the political troubles of German liberalism after that time Some liberal social scientists who wanted to repair both liberalism and the liberal theoretical pattern and others who wanted to replace them with something more conservative turned to the concept of culture as the focus of their intellectual endeavors Later generations of intellectuals repeated the process motivated in large part by the experiences of liberalism as a political movement in the German Empire Within this framework the book discusses the formation of diffusionism in German anthropology Friedrich Ratzel s theory of Lebensraum folk psychology historical economics and cultural history It also relates these developments to German imperialism the rise of radical nationalism and the upheaval in German social science at the turn of the century
