Regenerating British Columbia's Forests R. Parish,C. M. Johnson,G. Montgomery,A. Vyse,R. A. Willis,D. Winston,D.P. Lavender,2011-11-01 Reforestation is a subject vital to the economy of British Columbia which depends heavily on its forests a valuable but expendable resource This book provides silviculturalists with a broad reference to the science and technology of reforestation in the Canadian province that forms the single most diverse forest region in North America The work combines for the first time both experiences recorded from practical reforestation projects and the results of scientific investigations The chapters of Regenerating British Columbia s Forests were compiled and reviewed by experts in each field of discussion Topics include the physiological bases for seedling vigour and the interaction of reforestation with seedling physiology the ecology of British Columbia s bioclimatic zones and the role of ecological site classification the application of financial analyses to reforestation decisions current technology in manual mechanical and chemical site preparation and in the use of fire to prepare planting sites recent progress in tree genetics and breeding and its relevance to the production of tree propagules nursery technology methodology in planting evaluation techniques of plantation release and the role of insects disease and small mammals and birds in the reforestation process Regenerating British Columbia s Forests will assist those responsible for planning reforestation projects to reach informed decisions and will challenge them to consider primarily the biological factors basic to reforestation success rather than short term costs and production technology Although its main audience is practising foresters and forestry students of British Columbia the text will be of considerable interest to foresters in other parts of Canada the United States and Europe who manage reforestation

Barriers to Riches Stephen L. Parente, Edward C. Prescott, 2002-01-25 Why isn t the whole world as rich as the United States Conventional views holds that differences in the share of output invested by countries account for this disparity Not so say Stephen Parente and Edward Prescott In Barriers to Riches Parente and Prescott argue that differences in Total Factor Productivity TFP explain this phenomenon These differences exist because some countries erect barriers to the efficient use of readily available technology The purpose of these barriers is to protect industry insiders with vested interests in current production processes from outside competition Were this protection stopped rapid TFP growth would follow in the poor countries and the whole world would soon be rich Barriers to Riches reflects a decade of research by the authors on this question Like other books on the subject it makes use of historical examples and industry studies to illuminate potential explanations for income differences Unlike these other books however it uses aggregate data and general equilibrium models to evaluate the plausibility of alternative explanations The result of this approach is the most complete and coherent treatment of the subject to date

Transfer Pricing Aspects of Intra-Group Financing Raffaele Petruzzi, 2013-10-20 For corporate managers maximization of the profits and the market value of the firm is a prime objective The logical working out of this principle in multinational enterprises has led to an intense focus on transfer pricing between related companies principally on account of the very attractive tax advantages made possible Inevitably numerous countries have established transfer pricing legislation designed to combat the distortions and manipulations that are inherent in such transactions This important book one of the first in depth analysis of the current worldwide working of transfer pricing in intra group financing and its resonance in law presents the relevant issues related to loans financial guarantees and cash pooling analyses an innovative possible approach to these issues and describes new methodologies that can be implemented in practice in order to make intra group financing more compliant with efficient corporate financing decisions and the generally accepted OECD arm s length principle Comparing the tax measures implemented in the corporate tax law systems of forty countries this study investigates such aspects of intra group financing as the following corporate finance theories studies and surveys regarding financing decisions application of the arm s length principle to limit the deductibility of interest expenses impact of the OECD s Base Erosion and Profit Shifting BEPS project transfer pricing issues related to intra group financing credit risk in corporate finance rationales utilized by credit rating agencies and the assessment of arm s length nature of intra group financing The author describes ways in which the application of the arm s length principle can be strengthened and how the related risk of distortion and manipulation can be minimized The solutions and methodologies proposed are applicable to any business sector Given that determination of the arm's length nature of transactions between related companies is one of the most difficult tasks currently faced by taxpayers and tax administrations around the world this thorough assessment and analysis will prove extraordinarily useful for in house and advisory practitioners corporate officers academics international organizations and government officials charged with finding effective responses to the serious issues raised In addition to its well researched analysis the book's comparative overview of how loans financial guarantees and cash pooling are currently addressed by OECD Member States and by their national courts is of great practical value in business decision making
