

Math 1000: Calculus

This course is designed to provide a rigorous introduction to the fundamental concepts and techniques of calculus. The course covers the theory and application of limits, derivatives, and integrals, with a focus on understanding the underlying principles and their practical implications. Students will engage in a series of problem-solving exercises and projects that reinforce their learning and develop their analytical skills.

The course is structured to build a strong foundation in calculus, starting with the concept of limits and the definition of a function. It then moves on to the study of derivatives, which are used to describe the rate of change of a function. Finally, the course covers the theory of integration, which is used to find the area under a curve and to solve problems involving accumulation.

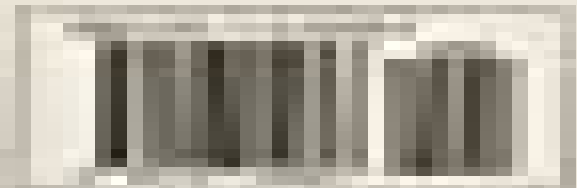

- Understanding the concept of limits and the definition of a function.
- Deriving the rules for differentiation and applying them to various functions.
- Understanding the concept of integration and the fundamental theorem of calculus.
- Applying the techniques of integration to solve problems involving area, volume, and motion.
