Light In The Dark Pool:

Light in the Dark Pool Kirsten B. Ellicson, 2014-12-14 The poems in Light in the Dark Pool probe the mystery disorientation frustration pain disappointment struggle shock and joy of human relationships Human language is fragile speech can distort thought and analysis and writing can counteract the very clarity they seek Relationships multiply the risk of error as we strive or don't to interpret another's words to understand her or his radically different position As we navigate the pitfalls and often doomed pathways of communication we wonder if the effort is worth it if the attempt to understand brings more sadness and isolation than not trying to understand and if the passage of time brings more cause for wariness than for healing Is it better to retreat into a rigid fortress Is it better to choose silence The stakes are high expanding ourselves to see through others' eyes means entering foreign territory Yet the purpose of poetry is to illuminate the rare and blazing jewels of life the unexpected moments of profound intimate and honest connection with others when the fear of vulnerability and the instinct for self protection become irrelevant We are fully ourselves past present and future while we also fully engage with another person

Behind the Blue Jeff Schilling, 2005-07 After only a few days at her grandparents Katherine is already bored Deciding to explore the woods nearby it isn't long before the Blue Man finds her Some items have been stolen from him items he would very much like back Without hesitation Katherine agrees to find them After all it is a chance at magic a chance she has looked for all her life The Blue Man sends her to a city where puddles are much deeper and lead to very unexpected places It is a world where towering dragons fight in the furthest reaches of the sky where the blue ends and the darkness of the
