The Lestronic II battery charger is designed to recharge deep-cycle, lead acid batteries. A ferroresonant transformer is used to provide a highly reliable, line compensating unit with a minimum of moving parts, designed for long, trouble-free service. A patented electronic timer turns the charger on and off automatically. This electronic timer determines full charge of the batteries by measuring the rate at which the battery voltage increases during charge. When the voltage stops rising, the battery is fully charged and the charger turns off.

The AC line to which the charger is to be connected must be capable of supplying 15 amperes to this charger.
