Scientists in the Classroom J. Rudolph,2002-05-02 During the 1950s leading American scientists embarked on an unprecedented project to remake high school science education Dissatisfaction with the soft school curriculum of the time advocated by the professional education establishment and concern over the growing technological sophistication of the Soviet Union led government officials to encourage a handful of elite research scientists fresh from their World War II successes to revitalize the nations science curricula In Scientists in the Classroom John L Rudolph argues that the Cold War environment long neglected in the history of education literature is crucial to understanding both the reasons for the public acceptance of scientific authority in the field of education and the nature of the curriculum materials that were eventually produced Drawing on a wealth of previously untapped resources from government and university archives Rudolph focuses on the National Science Foundation supported curriculum projects initiated in 1956 What the historical record reveals according to Rudolph is that these materials were designed not just to improve American science education but to advance the professional interest of the American scientific community in the postwar period as well

The Life, Science and Times of Lev Vasilevich Shubnikov L. J. Reinders,2018-02-27 This book describes the life times and science of the Soviet physicist Lev Vasilevich Shubnikov 1901 1937 From 1926 to 1930 Shubnikov worked in Leiden where he was the co discoverer of the Shubnikov De Haas effect After his return to the Soviet Union he founded in Kharkov in Ukraine the first low temperature laboratory in the Soviet Union which in a very short time became the foremost physics institute in the country and among other things led to the discovery of type II superconductivity In August 1937 Shubnikov together with many of his colleagues was arrested and shot early in November 1937 This gripping story gives deep insights into the pioneering work of Soviet physicists before the Second World War as well as providing much previously unpublished information about their brutal treatment at the hands of the Stalinist regime Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications ,2004
