Technologies in Biomedical and Life Sciences Education Harry J. Witchel, Michael W. Lee, 2022-06-24 This contributed volume focuses on understanding the educational strengths and weaknesses of mediated content including media as a learning supplement in comparison to traditional face to face learning Each chapter includes research on and a broad brush summary of approaches to combining life sciences education with educational technologies The chapters are organized into four main sections each of which focuses on a key question regarding the consequences of incorporating media into education In this regard the authors highlight how educational technology is both a bridge and barrier to student access and inclusivity Further they address the ongoing discussion as to whether students need to be present for lectures and on how having agency in their own learning can improve both retention and conceptual understanding To link the content to current events the authors also shed light on the impact that the COVID 19 pandemic is having on the continuity of educational programs and on the growing importance of educational technologies Consequently the book offers life science educators valuable guidance on the technologies already available and an outlook on what is yet to come

O. N. C. REED,2015-10-06 This is a one of a kind book combining easy to understand science in the trenches political warfare and inspirational stories It aims to give hope to individuals and families who suffer from chronic disease or disability to point out how ordinary people can make an extraordinary difference in the battle to ease suffering and save lives through supporting medical research to share in people talk some of the amazing progress already achieved in the new field of stem cell research to show how even such a magnificent success as the California stem cell program is under constant attack from ideological groups to offer medical research as a force for international cooperation to suggest how cure research lessens the need for the mountainous costs of endless care Unparalleled background the author has been involved in virtually every important stem cell battle state national and international since embryonic stem cell research began The author works closely with Robert N Klein sponsor of the California stem cell program the largest source of such stem cell research funding in the world In addition the author is an award winning teacher as well as writer and seeks to entertain as well as educate His book is not only substantive but also fun The book would be a treasured gift for anyone suffering an incurable illness or who is a caregiver for a loved one for a college student considering a rewarding career in biomedicine for scientists who want to protect and enhance their research funding and for anyone who wants to see government respond to the needs of its citizenry Chronic disease and disability are a prison cure is the triumphant escape wheelchairs should be for temporary occupancy only World Development Report 2016 World Bank Group,2016-01-14 Digital technologies are spreading rapidly but digital dividends the broader benefits of faster growth more jobs and better services are not If more than 40 percent of adults in East Africa pay their utility bills using a mobile phone why can't others around the world do the same If 8 million entrepreneurs in China one third of them women can use an e commerce platform to export goods to 120 countries why can't entrepreneurs elsewhere achieve the same global reach And if India can provide unique digital identification to 1 billion people in five years and thereby reduce corruption by billions of dollars why can't other countries replicate its success Indeed what's holding back countries from realizing the profound and transformational effects that digital technologies are supposed to deliver Two main reasons First nearly 60 percent of the world's population are still offline and can't participate in the digital economy in any meaningful way Second and more important the benefits of digital technologies can be offset by growing risks Startups can disrupt incumbents but not when vested interests and regulatory uncertainty obstruct competition and the entry of new firms Employment opportunities may be greater but not when the labor market is polarized The internet can be a platform for universal empowerment but not when it becomes a tool for state control and elite capture The World Development Report

2016 shows that while the digital revolution has forged ahead its analog complements the regulations that promote entry and competition the skills that enable workers to access and then leverage the new economy and the institutions that are accountable to citizens have not kept pace And when these analog complements to digital investments are absent the development impact can be disappointing What then should countries do They should formulate digital development strategies that are much broader than current information and communication technology ICT strategies They should create a policy and institutional environment for technology that fosters the greatest benefits In short they need to build a strong analog foundation to deliver digital dividends to everyone everywhere Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports ,1985
