Science and Culture Alan Macfarlane,2021-12-02 Science and Culture Lisa Jardine Jean Michel Massing and Simon Schaffer is a collection of interviews that are being published as a book for the first time These interviews have been conducted by one of England s leading social anthropologists and historians Professor Alan Macfarlane Filmed over a period of several years the three conversations in this volume are part of the series Creative Lives and Works These transcriptions form a part of a larger set of interviews that cut across various disciplines from the social sciences and the sciences to the performing and visual arts. The current volume is on three foremost historians of science. All civilizations throughout history have both produced and accumulated knowledge. This inquisitiveness about learning and about nature is reflected in science and culture. Renaissance thinkers such as Galilei Galileo, Leonardo da Vinci and Isaac Newton were the first true scientists of the modern world. Lisa Jardine, Jean Michel Massing and Simon Schaffer bring to life their own enriching experiences and show us that the future of science cannot be determined without taking into account its philosophical problems and the study of complexities associated with it. The book will be of enormous value not just to those interested in the subject of History of Science and Philosophy, Archaeology and Ethnocultural Studies but also who are curious to learn how civilizations and their cultures impact the study of science. Please note: This title is co-published with Social Science Press, New Delhi, Taylor Francis does not sell or distribute the Hardback in India, Pakistan, Nepal, Bhutan, Bangladesh and Sri Lanka.

Combating School-Based Violence Using African Indigenous Knowledge Systems Mfundo Mandla Masuku, Nomakhosi Nomathemba Sibisi, 2025-05-12. Using African epistemologies to understand contributing social and cultural factors around African school violence, this book investigates various kinds of school-based violence suffered by learners and teachers in order to further research into the impact of educational interventions on crime prevention in African schools. Investigating various kinds of school violence including gender-based violence and gang violence, the book uses African Indigenous Knowledge Systems and the philosophy of Ubuntu for example to tackle important concerns surrounding school violence, social cohesion, community engagement and role of education in fostering sustainable communities. Chapters demonstrate a qualitative research approach that encompasses empirical and conceptual studies to provide an in-depth exploration of violence in educational settings. The book draws on human experiences and emotions as well as teachers, learners, communities and other relevant stakeholders' perceptions of school violence. This highly interdisciplinary volume will be of immense value to scholars, researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of sociology of education, philosophy of education and educational psychology. Curriculum developers involved with module design may also find the volume of use.

House of Commons - Science and Technology Committee: Clinical Trials - HC 104 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Science and Technology Committee, 2013-09-17 Many of the trials taking place today are unregistered and unpublished meaning that the information that they generate remains invisible to both the scientific community and the public This undermines public trust slowing the pace of medical advancement and potentially putting patients at risk All trials conducted on NHS treatments and all other trials receiving public funding should be prospectively registered and their results published in a scientific journal While the focus should be on implementing this change for future trials the Government must also do what it can to ensure that historic trials are registered and published particularly where they have been publically funded The Government should also take steps to facilitate greater sharing of the raw data generated during a trial in a responsible and controlled way with the knowledge and consent of patients The report also draws attention to the recent fall in the number of trials taking place in the UK It finds that the need for multiple governance approvals from participating NHS organisations remained the biggest barrier to setting up a UK trial but that lack of public awareness was also a key issue Recruiting participants can also be a challenge The report calls on the Government to take its recommendations into account in ongoing discussions regarding the revision of European clinical trials legislation and in its response to the European Medicines Agency s consultation on the release of clinical trial data which closes at the end of this month
