

Essay Summary of Gender Identity

Gender Identity PSY/265 February 3, 2013 Gender Identity To understand gender identity you first need to know what gender identity is and what factors are involved in gender identity. "Gender identity is one's belief that one is a male or female." (Rathus, Nevid, & Fichner-Rathus, 2011, p.). Since we know what gender identity is, we need to have an understanding of what factors determine gender identity. The factors that play a role in gender identity are genetic factors, environmental situations, psychosocial factors, as well as sexual hormones.

The genetic factors have to do with the moment the child is conceived and the 23 male chromosomes and the 23 female chromosomes join together and create a zygote. At six weeks into the pregnancy our bodies already know what gender we will be and at seven weeks genetic code starts to show itself. When you are talking about the environmental situations in gender identity you are talking about the role that society plays on what is acceptable. Society in a whole divides male and female by their gender attributes.

The psychosocial factors of gender identity have to do with peer relationships as well as the parental relationships. The Sexual hormones have to do with the hormones in our bodies and their makeup. Masculine traits are being independent, being intelligent and competent of the world around you, the ability to be rational, assertive, analytical, and brave in situations as needed. Other traits that are considered masculine are strong, ambitious, active, competitive, insensitive, sexually aggressive, and attractive because of achievement.

Whereas feminine traits are to be submissive, dependent, unintelligent and incapable, emotional, receptive, intuitive, weak, timid, content, passive, cooperative, sensitive, sex object, and attractive because of physical appearance. Concerning my gender identity I feel that being born female played a big part in my gender identity. The other factor that played a big role in my gender identity would be psychosocial factors. Being raised in a family where a girl dressed like a girl, wearing dresses, having long hair, and long nails, as well as being prim and proper played a large role when it comes to my gender identity.

Now do not get me wrong I was raised by a single father and was taught to be independent and take care of myself, and stand on my own two feet but I have no problem letting a man take care of me in the sense of wanting to provide for me in the sense. I also believe that environmental situations played a big role in my gender identity in the sense of where I grew up and the way that society looks at males and females individually. While reading the differences in masculine and feminine traits I have to admit that I had never put thought into which traits attributed to myself.

It is said that a woman is to be dependent and that a man is to be independent. Personally I feel that I am very independent. My f

Gender Identity Paper:

Unveiling the Energy of Verbal Artistry: An Psychological Sojourn through Gender Identity Paper

In some sort of inundated with screens and the cacophony of quick transmission, the profound power and psychological resonance of verbal beauty usually fade in to obscurity, eclipsed by the constant barrage of sound and distractions. Yet, situated within the lyrical pages of Gender Identity Paper, a interesting work of fictional beauty that pulses with raw thoughts, lies an memorable trip waiting to be embarked upon. Penned by a virtuoso wordsmith, this enchanting opus books readers on a mental odyssey, gently exposing the latent potential and profound influence stuck within the complex web of language. Within the heart-wrenching expanse of the evocative evaluation, we will embark upon an introspective exploration of the book is central subjects, dissect its fascinating writing fashion, and immerse ourselves in the indelible impression it leaves upon the depths of readers souls.
