Academic Success For African-American Students Bobby Allen, Ed.D., 2014-05-08. This mixed methods study of 157 disadvantaged African American students and six teachers investigated the effectiveness of an after school tutoring program in improving students' grades. The reading, English language arts, and mathematics grades of student participants were compared using independent t tests and analysis of variance. The grades of participants were also compared to corresponding grades of non-participants. Results showed significant benefits in all areas. The author asserts that there exists a better way to educate African American students and assure greater academic success. Shuttered Schools Ebony M.

Duncan-Shippy, 2019-04-01. Since the late 1990s, mass school closures have reshaped urban education across the United States. Popular media coverage and research reports link this resurgence of school closures in major cities like Chicago and Philadelphia to charter school expansion, municipal budget deficits, and racial segregation. However, this phenomenon is largely overlooked in contemporary education scholarship. Shuttered Schools: Race, Community, and School Closures in American Cities Information Age Publishing is an interdisciplinary volume that integrates multiple perspectives to study the complex practice of school closure, an issue that transcends education. Academics, practitioners, activists, and policymakers will recognize the far-reaching implications of these decisions for school communities. Shuttered Schools features rigorous new studies of school closures in cities across the United States. This research contextualizes contemporary school closures and accounts for their disproportionate impact on African American students. With topics ranging from gentrification and redevelopment to student experiences with school loss, research presented in this text incorporates various methods, e.g., case studies, interviews, regression techniques, and textual analysis, to evaluate the intended and unintended consequences of closure for students, families, and communities. This work demonstrates that shifts in the social, economic, and political contexts of education inform closure practice in meaningful ways. The impacts of shuttering schools are neither colorblind nor class neutral but indeed interact with social contexts in ways that reify existing social inequalities in education.

Flashpoints Alan J. Singer, 2014-04-24 Drawing on his widely read Huffington Post columns rated one of the top educational blogs in the United States Alan Singer introduces readers to contemporary issues in education in the United States The issues are presented with a point of view and an edge intended to promote widespread classroom debate and discussion Each section opens with a new topical summary essay followed by a series of brief essays updated and adapted from Huffington Post columns The book includes guest contributions guiding questions and responses to essays by teacher education students and teachers to further classroom discussion Education Flashpoints is written in a conversational style that draws readers into a series of debates by presenting issues in a clear and concise manner but also with a touch of irony and a bit of rhetorical bite The topics examined in these essays read like the latest newspaper headlines in the battle to define public education in the United States Learning to Teach in an Era of Privatization Christopher A. Lubienski, T. Jameson

Brewer, 2019-07-19 Education policymakers often demonstrate surprisingly little awareness of how popular reforms impact teaching and teacher education In this book well regarded scholars help readers develop a more robust understanding of the nature of teacher preparation as well as an in depth grasp of how popular policies practices and ideologies have taken root domestically and internationally Contributors include Deron Boyles Anthony Cody Kerry Kretchmar Carmen Montecinos Beth Sondel and Christopher Tienken This book will help readers consider the possibilities of democratic visions in the teaching profession and in public education particularly in this time of intense political polarization when critical citizen engagement with our public institutions and policies is deeply needed Janelle Scott University of California Berkeley The chapters in this book make clear that ongoing policy disconnects cannot be ignored and that now is the time to elevate the teaching profession for students who have faced historical inequities Julian Vasquez Heilig dean University of Kentucky College of Education Public teaching and teacher education in the U S and in many other parts of the world are under assault by concerted efforts to deregulate and marketize them This collection of essays examines the consequences of these privatization efforts in the U S Chile and Singapore and should be required reading for those wanting to understand their complexity and consequences for teaching and teacher education today Ken Zeichner Boeing Professor of Teacher Education University of Washington

Students of the Dream Ruth Carbonette Yow, 2017-11-27 For decades Marietta High was the flagship public school of a largely white suburban community in Cobb County Georgia just northwest of Atlanta Today as the school s majority black and Latino students struggle with high rates of poverty and low rates of graduation Marietta High has become a symbol of the wave of resegregation that is sweeping white students and students of color into separate schools across the American South Students of the Dream begins with the first generations of Marietta High desegregators authorized by the landmark Brown v Board of Education ruling and follows the experiences of later generations who saw the dream of integration fall apart Grounded in over one hundred interviews with current and former Marietta High students parents teachers community leaders and politicians this innovative ethnographic history invites readers onto the key battlegrounds varsity sports school choice academic tracking and social activism of Marietta s struggle against resegregation Well intentioned calls for diversity and colorblindness Ruth Carbonette Yow shows have transformed local understandings of the purpose and value of school integration and not always for the better The failure of local state or national policies to stem the tide of resegregation is leading activists students parents and teachers to reject traditional integration models and look for other ways to improve educational outcomes among African American and Latino students Yow argues for a revitalized commitment to integration but one that challenges many of the orthodoxies including colorblindness inherited from the mid twentieth century civil rights struggle

Sick Schools David V. Anderson, 2020-01-10 Who's afraid of for-profit education Those who work in non-profit or government owned and operated schools Many parents and other stakeholders have been made fearful by this education establishment What's more important to humans nutrition or education Nutrition is more important because it is the prerequisite for other human activities including education What organizations provide food and who pays for the food Food is provided by for-profit farmers for-profit processors for-profit wholesalers and for-profit retailers Most food is purchased with the consumer's own money but a significant amount is purchased by low-income individuals using food stamps Why can't education be provided similarly using education stamps We trust for-profit enterprises to provide our food Why can't we trust for-profit enterprises to provide K-12 education Fearmongers have frightened us and made us into gullible compliant socialists who despise commercial activities in education Go to the supermarket and ponder its marvelous array of foods and then contemplate how a for-profit K-12 education sector would please and amaze its customers

Where the Hell is Middle America? Terrence Stone, 2024-08-31 Are you tired of the political discord between the two major political parties and feel a deep rift among the electorate Well the author does and dives into our current divisive political climate and its impact on our social climate And he places much of the blame on our politicians for this disharmony While self-identifying as fiscally conservative but more socially liberal the author previously felt he was a lifelong moderate Republican However he has become disenchanted with the GOP of late He examines many of the typically divisive topics that often distinguish Republicans and Democrats Exploring other political parties was also enlightening and now realizes he is more moderate centrist than previously thought Today's politicians often pander to their extremist ends rarely considering the middle third of the electorate that identify as moderate If a formidable moderate centrist candidate could wrest away the dominance of the two major parties by providing some competition it could force the Republican and Democratic politicians to act better After all competition in the marketplace can help bring down prices for our betterment wouldn't more competition in the political arena also be for our betterment The author shows that some middle ground may be met by offering some simple solutions to often complex political topics If more of the electorate could lean towards the middle further away from the far right and left extremist ends then we could gain additional support for more moderate major party candidates or even prevalent third party candidates

Managed By Morons James Lawther, 2023-09-04 The antidote to mediocre management read it and become a better boss Management would be easy if it weren't for the corporate claptrap that gets in the way the painful organisational rituals that do nothing for a business's success SMART goals are not smart the annual round of target setting is a management power game and employee performance management is for fools If it is such a great idea why don't you do it at home Try telling your partner they are below standard and highlight their development opportunities Imagine how that would play out You don't need an Executive MBA to be a captain of industry Nor do you need to climb on the bandwagon of the next big thing Management by Objectives Best Practice Benchmarking and the Tao of Transformational Leadership have all been and gone though you might need some Artificial Intelligence to sift through all that Big Data There are easier ways to create flourishing workplaces James Lawther spent a third of a century in corporate Britain He has been taken for a ride by leadership gurus seduced by technology fleeced by management consultants and had his fair share of truly dreadful managers But he learned how to build a thriving organisation along the way There is no secret sauce and like all good things it is simple when you know how Buy this book and rediscover the obvious Your customers employees and bosses will love you for it
