The fifth edition of the Highway Capacity Manual (HCM 2010), recently released by the Transportation Research Board (TRB), incorporates results from more than $5 million of research completed since the publication of the HCM 2000. This latest edition significantly updates the methodologies that engineers and planners use to assess the traffic and environmental effects of highway projects.

HCM 2010 introduces several firsts, including

- 1. An integrated multimodal approach to the analysis and evaluation of urban streets from the points of view of automobile drivers, transit passengers, bicyclists, and pedestrians;
- 2. Guidance on the proper application of microsimulation analysis and the evaluation of those results;
- 3. The presentation of active traffic management in relation to demand and capacity; and
- 4. Generalized service volume tables to assist planners in sizing roadway facilities.

Key Changes

Following are some of the key changes in the HCM 2010:

- 1. The signalized intersections procedure models

HCM 2010 features findings on active traffic management, which strategically deploys an array of measures to relieve congestion.

Among the new features of HCM 2010 is updated material on the impact of weather and work zones on freeway capacity.

the operation of an actuated controller. A new incremental queue accumulation (IQA) method calculates the delay term d and the length term Q . Although equivalent to the HCM 2000 method for the idealized case, the IQA method is more flexible and can accommodate nonideal cases, such as coordinated arrivals and multiple green periods with differing saturation flow rates, which can occur with protected-plus-permitted left turns. A check procedure for left-turn lane overflow also has been added.

- 2. Unsignalized intersections, previously a single chapter, now are described in three chapters, covering two-way stop-controlled (TWSC) intersections, all-way stop-controlled (AWSC) intersections, and roundabouts. The TWSC method in the HCM 2010 can analyze intersections along six-lane streets, and the AWSC method now includes a queue-estimation procedure. The roundabout material is completely updated, based on the work of National Cooperative Highway Research Program (NCHRP) Project 3-65,¹ which developed a comprehensive database of U.S. roundabout operations and established new methodologies for evaluating roundabout performance. The chapter adds a level-of-service (LOS) table for roundabouts.
- 3. The interchange ramp terminals chapter has

Principles of Highway Engineering and Traffic Analysis Fred L. Mannering, Scott S. Washburn, 2012-03-27 The 5th edition of the Mannering's Principles of Highway Engineering and Traffic Analysis continues to offer a concise approach that covers all the necessary fundamental concepts. New features in this edition include updates and more consistency with the latest edition of the Highway Capacity Manual HCM, the inclusion of sample FE exam questions call out of common mistakes and added coverage on a qualitative description of the mechanistic approach. Highway capacity manual 2010 National Research Council (U.S.). Transportation Research Board, 2010 The HCM 2010 significantly enhances how engineers and planners assess the traffic and environmental effects of highway projects by providing an integrated multimodal approach to the analysis and evaluation of urban streets from the points of view of automobile drivers, transit passengers, bicyclists and pedestrians. Addressing the proper application of microsimulation analysis and the evaluation of the results. Examining active traffic management in relation to demand and capacity and exploring specific tools and generalized service volume tables to assist planners in quickly sizing future facilities. The four volume format provides information at several levels of detail to help users more easily apply and understand the concepts, methodologies and potential applications. Recent Advances in

Traffic Engineering for Transport Networks and Systems Elżbieta Macioszek, Grzegorz Sierpiński, 2017-08-01 This book is a collation of numerous valuable guidelines for making decisions based on recent advances and improvement of transport systems. Offering know how and discussing practical examples as well as decision making support systems, it is of interest of those who face the challenge of seeking solutions to contemporary transport system problems on a daily basis including local authorities involved in planning and preparation of development strategies for specific transport related areas in both urban and regional dimension as well as representatives of business and industry who participate directly in the implementation of traffic engineering solutions. The guidelines are provided in individual chapters making it possible to address the given problem in an advanced manner and simplify the choice of appropriate strategies including those related to increasing competitiveness of public transport, identifying bus lines to potentially be serviced by electric buses, pedestrian traffic solutions, developing bike sharing systems, safety conditions in road tunnels, integrating supply chains or route planning support by means of technologically advanced systems and applications. On the other hand, since the book also addresses the new approach to theoretical models including traffic flow surveys and measurements, transport behaviours, capacity models, delay modelling and road condition modelling, it appeals to researchers and scientists studying this body of problems. The book entitled Recent Advances in Traffic Engineering for Transport Networks and Systems includes selected papers submitted to and presented at the 14th Scientific and Technical Conference Transport Systems Theory and Practice organised by the Department of Transport Systems and Traffic Engineering at the Faculty of Transport of the Silesian University of Technology. The conference was held on 18-20 September 2017 in Katowice, Poland. Transportation
