All Through the Ages Christine Marie Miller, 2001 Popular Literature Victor E. Neuburg, 1977 A Researcher's Guide to Sources on Soviet Social History in the 1930s Sheila Fitzpatrick, Lynne Viola, 2016-07-22 The Stalin era has been less accessible to researchers than either the preceding decade or the postwar era The basic problem is that during the Stalin years censorship restricted the collection and dissemination of information and introduced bias and distortion into the statistics that were published while in the post Stalin years access to archives and libraries remained tightly controlled Thus it is not surprising that one of the main manifestations of glasnost has been the effort to open up records of the 1930s In this volume Western and Soviet specialists detail the untapped potential of sources on this period of Soviet social history and also the hidden traps that abound The full range of sources is covered from memoirs to official documents from city directories to computerized data bases Harvard Guide to American History Frank Freidel, Frank Burt Freidel, Richard K.

The Cambridge History of Literary Criticism: Volume 9, Twentieth-Century Historical, Philosophical and Psychological Perspectives Christa Knellwolf, Christopher Norris, Jessica Osborn, 1989 This ninth volume in The Cambridge History of Literary Criticism presents a wide ranging survey of developments in literary criticism and theory during the last century Drawing on the combined expertise of a large team of specialist scholars it offers an authoritative account of the various movements of thought that have made the late twentieth century such a richly productive period in the history of criticism The aim has been to cover developments which have had greatest impact on the academic study of literature along with background chapters that place those movements in a broader intellectual national and socio cultural perspective In comparison with Volumes Seven and Eight also devoted to twentieth century developments there is marked emphasis on the rethinking of historical and philosophical approaches which have emerged especially during the past two decades as among the most challenging areas of debate

Studying Transcultural Literary History Gunilla Lindberg-Wada, 2012-03-12 In our globalised world literature is less and less confined to national spaces Europe centred frameworks for literary studies have become insufficient academics are increasingly called upon to address matters of cultural difference In this unique volume leading scholars discuss the critical and methodical challenges that these developments pose to the writing of literary history What is the object of literary history What is the meaning of the term world literature How do we compare different cultural systems of genres How do we account theoretically for literary transculturation What are the implications of postcolonial studies for the discipline of comparative literature Ranging in focus from the Persian epic of Majnun Layla and Zulu praise poetry to South Korean novels and Brazilian antropofagismo the essays offer a concise overview of these and related questions Their aim is not to reach a consensus on these matters They show instead what is at stake in the emergent field of global comparatism
