Patchwork of World History in Texas High Schools Stephen Jackson, 2022-11-30 This book traces the historical development of the World History course as it has been taught in high school classrooms in Texas a populous and nationally influential state over the last hundred years Arguing that the course is a result of a patchwork of competing groups and ideas that have intersected over the past century with each new framework patched over but never completely erased or replaced the author crucially examines themes of imperialism Eurocentrism and nationalism in both textbooks and the curriculum more broadly The first part of the book presents an overview of the World History course supported by numerical analysis of textbook content and public documents while the second focuses on the depiction of non Western peoples and persistent narratives of Eurocentrism and nationalism It ultimately offers that a more global accurate and balanced curriculum is possible despite the tension between the ideas of professional world historians who often de center the nation state in their quest for a truly global approach to the subject and the historical core rationale of state sponsored education in the United States to produce loyal citizens Offering a new conceptual understanding of how colonial themes in World History curriculum have been dealt with in the past and are now engaged with in contemporary times it provides essential context for scholars and educators with interests in the history of education curriculum studies and the teaching of World History in the United States

Intercultural Studies of Curriculum Carmel Rooft, Christopher Bezzina, 2017-10-05 This book explores the philosophical ideological and practical dimensions of curriculum using an intercultural lens It is cross cultural comparative and inclusive with each chapter featuring case studies from a minimum of three countries across different continents By using the same methods of data collection and analysis for each country level in each chapter the text explores relationships of curriculum theory policy and practice both within and between countries A diverse range of themes is explored including social justice and teacher preparation curriculum language education curriculum early childhood education and music curriculum as praxis curriculum and globalisation science curriculum teacher leadership in curriculum implementation as well as curriculum and history The exploration of these themes lays the foundation for open dialogue and innovative approaches in exploring curriculum issues within between and across cultures and contexts

The Cold War in the Classroom Barbara Christophe, Peter Gautschi, Robert Thorp, 2019-10-23 This book is open access under a CC BY 4 0 license This book explores how the socially disputed period of the Cold War is remembered in today s history classroom Applying a diverse set of methodological strategies the authors map the dividing lines in and between memory cultures across the globe paying special attention to the impact the crisis driven age of our present has on images of the past Authors analysing educational media point to ambivalence vagueness and contradictions in textbook narratives understood to be echoes of societal and academic controversies Others focus on teachers and the history classroom showing how unresolved political issues create tensions in history education They render visible how teachers struggle to handle these challenges by pretending that what they do is just history The contributions to this book unveil how teachers backgrounding the political inherent in all memory practices often nourish the illusion that the history in which they are engaged is all about addressing the past with a reflexive and disciplined approach History Textbooks and the Wars in Asia Gi-Wook Shin, Daniel C. Sneider, 2011-02-08 Over the past fifteen years Northeast Asia has witnessed growing intraregional exchanges and interactions especially in the realms of culture and economy Still the region cannot escape from the burden of history This book examines the formation of historical memory in four Northeast Asian societies China Japan South Korea and Taiwan and the United States focusing on the period from the beginning of the Sino Japanese war in 1931 until the formal conclusion of the Pacific War with the San Francisco Peace Treaty of 1951 The contributors analyse the recent efforts of Korean Japanese and Chinese scholars to write a common history of Northeast Asia and question the underlying motivations for their efforts and subsequent achievements In doing so they contend that the greatest obstacle to reconciliation in Northeast Asia lies in the existence of divided and often conflicting historical memories The book argues that a more fruitful approach lies in understanding how historical memory has evolved in each country and been incorporated into respective master narratives Through uncovering the existence of different master narratives it is hoped citizens will develop a more self critical self reflective approach to their own history and that such an introspective effort has the potential to lay the foundation for greater self and mutual understanding and eventual historical reconciliation in the region This book will be essential reading for students and scholars of Asian history Asian education and international relations in East Asia California in a Time of Excellence James Andrew LaSpina, 2009-02-26 Follows California s efforts at reforming the public school system from 1983 to the present The Global Debt Crisis and Its Socioeconomic Implications Mohamed Rabie, 2017-10-31 This fascinating and ambitious book proposes a new strategy the Ramo Plan to tackle the current global socioeconomic crisis Issuing a direct challenge to the status quo the author lays out a bold set of policies to overcome the West East divide and lead us to a more successful and secure future Alongside the presentation of a new economic approach this book provides a thorough survey of the major forces behind the decline in economic growth rates It examines the state of the major world economies explores the impact of the global debt crisis identifies the income and wealth gaps in the United States and other countries and explains the relationship between these issues and the spread of alienation radicalism and terrorism Imaginative and refreshing this is valuable and original reading for students and academics interested in international political economy economic development sustainable development and social economics as well as global policy area studies globalization studies and international relations Attending to Early Modern Women Susan Dwyer Amussen, Adele F.
