How Terrorist Groups End Seth G. Jones, Martin C. Libicki, 2008-07-17 All terrorist groups eventually end But how do they end The evidence since 1968 indicates that most groups have ended because 1 they joined the political process 43 percent or 2 local police and intelligence agencies arrested or killed key members 40 percent Military force has rarely been the primary reason for the end of terrorist groups and few groups within this time frame have achieved victory This has significant implications for dealing with al Qaeda and suggests fundamentally rethinking post 9 11 U S counterterrorism strategy Policymakers need to understand where to prioritize their efforts with limited resources and attention The authors report that religious terrorist groups take longer to eliminate than other groups and rarely achieve their objectives The largest groups achieve their goals more often and last longer than the smallest ones do Finally groups from upper income countries are more likely to be left wing or nationalist and less likely to have religion as their motivation The authors conclude that policing and intelligence rather than military force should form the backbone of U S efforts against al Qaeda And U S policymakers should end the use of the phrase war on terrorism since there is no battlefield solution to defeating al Qaeda

How Wars End Damien Kingsbury, Richard Iron, 2022-12-27 This book addresses one of the most important issues in international relations how wars are ended The volume draws on the direct experience of both soldiers and academics who in each case have also been advisers on fighting and ending wars Unlike more theoretical works the book draws on first hand experiences in the case studies which include the wars in Iraq Afghanistan Sierra Leone and Indonesia among others The volume is constructed around a series of themes The first theme is why wars start and how they can be understood based on the assumption that knowing how and why wars start is fundamental to understanding how they might end The second is what sustains wars and what makes them difficult to end Again once wars start understanding what keeps them going is critical to how to end them The third focuses on the role of external intervention in ending wars including as a belligerent partner in war as a peacemaking or peacekeeping force and as a mediator between warring parties The fourth addresses the issue of ripeness and the right conditions for ending wars The fifth addresses the modalities for ending wars and creating peace with the sixth theme being focused on transitions to peace and what is required to help make those transitions successful The book will be of interest to students of military strategic and security studies peace studies and International Relations
