Attacking the Standardized Exam Ronald S. Thompson, 2011-09-16 I have spent the better part of the last 53 years taking well over a thousand multiple choice tests As a teenager I struggled through high school Armed with an average IQ and some fairly significant learning disabilities I barely graduating with a 1.4 grade point average However I was smart enough to figure out early on that much of academics and that achieving success in academics had far more to do with the ability to master multiple choice tests than raw intellect From there I began a 35 year study on the art and science of passing mastering and scoring high on multiple choice tests Despite a very substandard high school GPA I scored high enough on the SAT and the ACT to be accepted to the University of Michigan one of the top academic institutions in the Country Upon graduation from college I accepted a commission as an officer in the United States Marine Corps As a Marine Officer I completed dozens of military and civilian schools including a Masters Degree from Boston University and a Juris Doctor Degree from the University of Detroit School of Law In fact I earned a full ride military scholarship to law school based primarily on the fact I scored so highly on the Law School Aptitude Test 98th percentile Upon completion of law school I passed the Michigan Bar exam on the first attempt scoring 149 points on the multistate the multiple choice portion of the exam which was one question away from automatic passage at 150 they examiners do not need to grade the essay portion I have also taken and applied many of the Marine Corps concepts of discipline and mental toughness to the art of preparing for taking and passing multiple choice tests Resigning my commission and leaving the Marine Corps in 1990 I continued both my education as well as honing my test taking skills I currently hold 12 professional licenses and 5 professional designations which required me to pass several comprehensive and difficult multiple choice examinations I have also attended dozens of professional test preparation courses From those courses I have cherry picked all of the valuable lessons and test taking tips and have included those in this book One of the professional licenses I hold is a paramedic license As a paramedic I have gained a much greater understanding of the anatomy and physiology of test taking Test taking is all about the central nervous system which of course includes the brain However as I explain in this book it is clear that the sympathetic and parasympathetic nervous systems have as much to do with passing and failing multiple choice tests as does the brain Accordingly I have also applied many of those principals in this book

The Atlantic Monthly , 1927 Educational and Psychological Testing Martin Holeman, Richard Docter, 1972-03-15 Educational and psychological tests are often used in ways which touch most intimately the lives of people For example tests may influence who gets a job or who is selected to attend a college or graduate school But not everyone has agreed that tests are a good thing Over the past twenty years a wave of complaints has led to congressional hearings court cases and formal grievances before state and federal commissions Holmen and Docter have analyzed these complaints and criticisms not only by considering the tests themselves but through examining the ways tests are used as elements in assessment systems The applications of tests in clinical and counseling work in educational achievement testing and in personnel selection is discussed and evaluated While the least amount of testing is in the personnel selections area this is where the most complaints are found Educational achievement testing has by far the largest testing programs and a wide range of criticisms has been voiced concerning this kind of assessment Testing in connection with clinical and counseling work has generated the least public concern An extensive analysis is given of the organizations which comprise the testing industry including the various developers and publishers of tests and also test scoring organizations The users of tests are considered from the standpoint of their professional training and also in terms of how their organizations influence technical standards of test development
